

British Arms Plan To Heal Breach Is Declared Bold Move

Proposals Are Designed to Bring Germany Back Into League, Says London Times
Principal Powers Study Proposals

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 1.—“A bold advance on anything yet proposed,” was the description by The London Times to-day of the new British disarmament proposals now being studied by the principal powers. They are obviously designed to heal the breach between France and Germany, and bring the latter back into the League of Nations and World Disarmament Conference.

Speaking of the plan, which urges concrete disarmament over a period of ten years with full recognition of Germany's claim to equality, The Times observed: “It faces fairly the claims so hard to reconcile, of Germany in regard to equality and of France in regard to security.”

“It is safe to say that nothing less than what is now offered would offer sufficient inducement to some of the heavily armed continental countries whose present superiority resides in their equipment, to lay down the powerful weapons in which they have so far put their trust.”

CLEAR LEAD
The London Daily Mail also said it could no longer be charged the British government had not given the nations a clear lead in efforts toward disarmament.

The London News-Chronicle, Liberal, declared the proposals were “not particularly inspiring,” but “they can fairly be regarded as an honest effort to avoid the irretrievable collapse of the whole disarmament conference.”

The note later says:—
“His Majesty's government... must insist the only agreement worthy of the name disarmament convention will be one which contains a reduction as well as a limitation of armaments.”

Tax Prepayment In City Maintained

City Statement Shows $201,937.05 Collected in Advance on 1934 Levy; Figure Close to Record Established Last Year

Tax prepayments in the city of Victoria during the month of January, although $16,587.45 below those of the corresponding period of last year, were regarded as being highly satisfactory at the City Hall to-day.

For the first thirty-one days of 1934, property owners paid in $201,937.05, largely in first instalments on their yearly levies, and will enjoy five per cent interest, double that given by the banks to depositors, up to October 1 on the sums they have placed in the city's coffers. The amount the city will pay out in interest on the money already turned in will total $7,363.

Last year, at this time, the sum of $218,528.50 had been brought forward, through prepayment, and the interest on the money chargeable against the city was $9,412.

Pulmotor Squads Revive Apartment Residents in Montreal Overcome When Furnace Pipe Breaks

Canadian Press
Montreal, Feb. 1.—Overcome by deadly carbon monoxide fumes from a displaced furnace pipe, twenty-one persons were revived by artificial respiration here to-day. Ambulance doctors and pulmotor squads summoned by police succeeded in resuscitating the victims without the necessity of sending them to a hospital.

A majority of them, who ranged in age from ten days to fifty-four years, were members of two families living over a hardware store. Four were boarders.

The furnace pipe in the hardware store fell out of place during the night and the carbon monoxide fumes gradually spread through the flats above.

EVANS APPEAL HAS TO WAIT

Crowd in Court and Justices Call Case, But Lawyers Not on Hand

When the five justices took their seats on the Court of Appeal bench to-day they found a courtroom crowd of men and women wearing buttons upon which were the words “Smash Section 98—Evans Defence Fund.”

The crowd, most of whom had raised the money to carry on the defence, had come to hear the opening of appeal against the imprisonment of Arthur H. Evans, sentenced in Vernon for unlawful assembly under the recently added Section 98 of the Criminal Code aimed at curbing radical movements.

The appeal had been set down to start to-day, but when the justices ordered it called it was found that the lawyers concerned were not in court, as it had been assumed the Evans case would not go on until the conclusion of the Dallimore-Maunsell appeal, which is still being heard.

Because of this situation, the justices then ordered the lawyers in the Dallimore-Maunsell case to resume their argument, while the Evans case will have to stand over and may now not come on until the first of next week.

The case is considered of importance because it is the first time a conviction under the much-debated Section 98 has come up for test before the Court of Appeal.

CALGARY UNEMPLOYMENT REPORT
Calgary, Feb. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Calgary single unemployed men being cared for by the relief commission were reported to-day as totaling only 900, as compared with 2,600 at this time last year.

The case is considered of importance because it is the first time a conviction under the much-debated Section 98 has come up for test before the Court of Appeal.

NEW MANDATE GIVEN STALIN
Russian Communist Party Convention Approves His Defence Declarations

By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press Foreign Staff
Moscow, Feb. 1.—The Soviet Union produced “many more tanks, heavy artillery and machine guns in 1933 than in 1932,” Gregory K. Ordzhonikidze, president of the Supreme Council, told the all-union congress of the Communist Party here to-day.

The unqualified support of the party was given Joseph Stalin to-day in his stand for a “keep-off-the-grass” foreign policy and preparedness for any emergency. The seventeenth party congress roared its approval of his spectacular turn in full, gave him an unprecedented mandate.

“We warn everybody,” they heard Stalin sternly declare in his report last week, “not to poke their snouts into the Soviet potato patch.”

GIVES ORDER TO SHOOT TO KILL

Major Emil Fey, Vice-Chancellor of Austria, when photographed as above, was instructing armed Heimwehr in Vienna to fire at any person placing explosives or fleeing from scenes of explosions. Drastic measure was taken to suppress Nazi bombing and terrorism in Austria. Yesterday, Chancellor Dollfuss, saying the government's patience was at an end, added police to Fey's authorized powers to clear up the Nazi situation. The Vice-Chancellor was authorized to jail police and city and provincial authorities as well as government officials and any others whom he considers obstructing the Dollfuss regime.

In Twenty-four Hours Grilling at Chicago Public Enemy No. 1 Says He Took Part In Other Kidnaping, But Not That One

Associated Press
Chicago, Feb. 1.—After twenty-four hours of almost continuous grilling, Verne Sankey, forty-two, described as United States Public Enemy No. 1, clung persistently to his denial of any implication in the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., while demands for his custody came from several places.

Sankey, a former Canadian National Railway engineer of Melville, Sask., was closed with government investigators, who so far have wrung from him without trouble confessions of participation in the abduction of Charles Roeder, brother of the late Charles Lindbergh, in St. Paul, Minn.

WOULD SCRAP GAME BOARD

Auto License Cut, Pension Limit and Smaller Pension Advocated at Lutton

Abolition of the present Game Board and placing the duties back in the hands of the Provincial Police was one of a number of resolutions adopted by the Lutton Division of the Esquimalt Liberal Association at an executive meeting held on Tuesday. Other resolutions adopted dealt with the following items:

Quarterly payment of motor licenses and a $5 minimum for light cars and trucks; another survey of Orientals in British Columbia; limit on interest rates; civil service pension maximum of $100, and construction of Port Renfrew-Jordan River road.

The resolution dealing with the Game Board set out that widespread indignation was caused among farmers by arbitrary and ill-considered action of certain game wardens in the enforcement of the Game Act, and it was also claimed there was a well-grounded feeling among the general public, of all shades of political thought, that in these times of economic stress there was little need for an expensive special game department. The recommendation that the enforcement of the Game Act be placed in the hands of the Provincial Police was adopted.

New Japan Minister Of War Declares For Peace

No Clash With Russia Unless Soviet Causes It, Says General Hayashi

At the same time, Gen. Hayashi said he was “incapable of conceiving any Japanese-American differences justifying a belief in a future Japanese-American war.”

“We are making no preparations for war with Russia,” the General said flatly.

“We are out for peace,” Gen. Hayashi continued, declaring charges made by Soviet leaders in speeches—that the Japanese army is plotting seizure of the Russian Maritime Province and northern Sakhalin are absurd.

“The Japanese army will not assist in any attempt to extend the territory of Manchukuo in any direction,” said Gen. Hayashi.

Striking tribute to the memory of one of Victoria's best-known citizens was paid this morning at the funeral of Joseph A. Sayward, when Christ Church Cathedral was filled with a sorrowing congregation drawn from all walks of life and representing all sections of the community.

The cortege left the family residence, 1031 Rockland Avenue, at 11:20 o'clock and proceeded to the cathedral, where the impressive service was conducted by Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, assisted by Very Rev. C. S. Quinton, Dean of Columbia. The hymns sung were: “O God, Our Help in Ages Past” and “Lead, Kindly Light,” the cathedral boys' choir leading in the singing of the hymns and of the twenty-third Psalm. As the remains were conveyed from the church, the organist, Richard Eaton, played the Dead March from “Saul.”

Increase In Firms Reflects Recovery

Twenty-five Per Cent Advance in Number of New Companies Last Year

Mining Groups Lead With Indication For New Spurt This Spring

Marked increase in the number of new companies incorporated during the last twelve months, with a significant upward trend since last May, is one of the signs of business betterment evident at the Parliament Buildings.

The big boom in mining companies in the late spring last year swelled the total considerably, but general incorporations have shown a steady increase since that time.

In January this year, for instance, forty-eight new companies were formed, or nearly 100 per cent increase over the total of twenty-seven for January last year.

Foundation for another spurt in mining activity is already indicated by the fact that the forty-eight companies incorporated last month being for mining purposes. Applications have also been made for a number of others this month.

The total number of companies formed in 1933 was 595, as compared with 473 in the previous twelve months an advance of 25 per cent. January and March last year were the only months showing a decline.

In this week's list there are three big mining companies, including one Victoria group, the Northern Reef Gold Mines, which is capitalized at $1,000,000.

A new broadcasting company in the interior has also been formed.

Following is the complete list:—
Northern Reef Gold Mines Limited (non-personal liability), Victoria, $1,000,000.

Vancouver, Feb. 1.—Two thousand dollars in negotiable bonds, stolen from the real estate office of H. L. Radermacher January 14, had been returned through the mails to-day to Mr. Radermacher. The thief had apparently been unable to dispose of the bonds and had decided to return them.

FOUR FISHERMEN ARE FEARED LOST

Bay City Mich., Feb. 1.—Hope waned to-day as watchers on the shores of Saginaw Bay sought in vain for traces of four fishermen borne out toward Lake Huron Wednesday noon on a grumbling ice floe.

Throughout the night coastguardsmen and volunteers led by Charles King, father of two of the marooned men, kept a vigil on the shore, lighting flares at intervals in the hope those on the ice would find their way ashore.

The four were: Johnny Swantek, thirty-two; Henry Abre, sixty; Charles King Jr., seaman, and his brother, Lawrence, nineteen.

Industrial Average Reaches Highest Point Since September, 1931, as Cheaper Dollar's Influence Is Felt; Confusion Seen in Exchange Market

Dollar Loses Slightly in London

Canadian Press and Associated Press
New York, Feb. 1.—The new—and cheaper—United States dollar made its debut to-day amid boisterous applause from the stock market.

Shares swept $1 to more than $4 higher under successive waves of buying, which embraced all major groups, putting the industrial average at the highest point since September, 1931.

Meanwhile, high confusion ruled in the foreign exchange market. The United States dollar began an advance which was contrary to what might have been expected in view of the momentous step President Roosevelt took yesterday when he devalued the currency at a level to conform to the new gold price of $35 an ounce.

Exchange dealers attributed United States dollar strength partly to European demand for American securities, but a more potent influence seemed to be the banks' inability to begin transactions in gold pending clarification of treasury regulations.

Profiteering From Depression Charged

Hon. Charles Stewart Tells Commons Investigation Into Industrial Activities in Canada Needed

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Hiding behind tariff protection, some Canadian manufacturers have made excessive profits throughout the depression, yet paid the lowest wages in history to their employees. It was charged in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Charles Stewart, former Minister of the Interior.

The Liberal member for Edmonton West proposed a sweeping investigation into industrial activities, along the lines proposed for chain and departmental-store buying practices.

“I am greatly informed,” said the former Alberta Premier, “and I am going to ascertain the truth of the matter—that in Western Ontario there is an individual engaged in production of silk stockings and silk underwear who stands to make a profit well over $200,000 this year and he is paying the lowest wages he ever paid.”

There was need of an investigation to stop extravagant profits and low rates of pay, said Mr. Stewart and, at the same time, to determine how manufacturers were hiding behind tariff protection.

Total cost of the project will be "somewhat less than $1,000,000." It was officially stated.

SPINSTER NOT A MAN-HATER

Los Angeles, Feb. 1.—Strange letters of an eccentric spinster, Margaret A. Keith, who told her young nephew she had left "the tom-tom age many years ago," were read into Superior Court records yesterday at the trial of a suit contesting her $1,000,000 will.

The letters were written to Albert C. Allen Jr., Oregon rancher-writer, to whom she bequeathed the bulk of her estate. In other letters to a detective she had employed, C. V. Hatter, the wealthy recluse described herself as "just about as mysterious as an onion."

She denied in letters to Hatter that she was "a man hater." Much previous testimony had pictured Miss Keith as such because she wore a veil almost constantly and secluded herself from the world in a palatial seaside mansion. "When I was young I traveled over the world, saw and did everything and did not retire until I was nearly forty," the late spinster wrote to Allen. "I had my books, my music, so people were not necessary."

"There is nothing queer in a person being civilized, is there? I left the tom-tom age a good many years ago. These noisy people who must have negro music and the throb of the tom-tom every day and most of the night seem just as queer to me as I do to them," she wrote.

In another letter to Allen she told him he was her "godchild" and if the will was contested to "fight to the last ditch because I want you to have the money." Miss Keith wrote: "You are my godchild and I have always been interested in you. I pretty nearly saw you born. So there is nothing unusual in my interest in you."

In the letter to Hatter, describing herself as "mysterious as an onion," the wealthy recluse said she liked to talk to men "because they have brains."

"But I think the Amazons had the right idea," she added, "because they made all of the men stay out in the shed with the cattle."

The will is being contested by Mrs. Mary Allen Towle, a niece, and others on the grounds that Miss Keith was mentally unbalanced.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick
Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Lehnardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles. No matter how stubborn the case? (Adv.)

APPEAL MADE U.S.
JOIN WORLD LEAGUECIVILIZATION
LACKS SOULDean Inge Thinks World Has Lost Knack of Making
Beautiful Things

By Thomas T. Champion
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Feb. 1.—There are four things which Dean Inge would choose most in life. He let the Classical Association into the secret when he delivered his presidential address. They are: (1) Wisdom (knowledge of the relative value of things);

(2) Domestic happiness; (3) Recognition and encouragement, which is a great part of friendship. He was not quite sure on his fourth point, but said that perhaps it would be "the love of the beautiful."

Dean Inge introduced his dissertation by drawing a picture of a visitor from another planet sent to make an intelligent study of our western civilization. These, he thought, would be some of the visitor's reflections: "I see that they try to make beautiful things, but they have lost the knack. It is an ugly civilization. 'But this,' he would say, 'is not the most remarkable thing that I found: When I entered their places of worship, I found the congregations solemnly repeating from the ferociously patriotic literature of an ancient Bedouin tribe. They sang a great deal about Jerusalem and Jordan and David, but not a word about London and the Thames and King Alfred."

"Surely," he would say, "here is a civilization which has not yet found its soul. It is content to borrow from and imitate the ancients. Are not the Thames and Severn rivers of England better than all the waters of Israel? Are not Dante, Shakespeare and Goethe as great poets as Homer, Sophocles and Virgil? Has philosophy more no ad- vance since Plato and Aristotle?"

MASTERS OF EUROPE
Modern Europe, Dean Inge said, put itself into leading strings to two masters, who concurrently gave our civilization the character. The north projected Latinism, the south remained under its influence.

"A regime of oppressive dictatorships, such as we are now threatened with, would indeed be the death or edipism of Hellenism, and a return to 'barbarism,'" said the dean.

"We English do not talk much about the best parts of our make-up—our great kindness and tolerance, our short memory for injuries, our love of justice and fair play, our hatred of cruelty."

"We pride ourselves on our business capacity, which is very moderate; our energy and industry, in which we are rather deficient; our political wisdom, which shows itself chiefly in our distrust of logic and our conviction (by no means always right) that 'force is no remedy.'"

"Democracy speaks with contempt of intellectuals and high-brows, and has brought the daily papers with the largest circulation to the lowest depth of fatuity and vulgarity. Would that we were able to deal faithfully with the drivellers who bid us seek our models in the 'art' of the savages of Benin, or the statues of Easter Island; who bid us adorn the facades of public buildings with 'female figures, apparently suffering from elephantiasis, and sometimes gives us even a canvas strewn with geometrical zig-zags. The whole thing is manifestly a disease. Some of the new architecture is not much better. A child could produce a modern pile of flats."

EPIC JOURNEY

Northerner Through Unbroken Trail to Plane

Canadian Press
Cranberry Portage, Man., Feb. 1.—Frank Allison, trapper from the Pile Lake area, about eighty air miles northeast of the Pas, was in the hospital here today after two weeks of delirium, spent with his brother Jack in their isolated cabin and en route to civilization. Last stages of the trip were made by airplane.

On January 14, Frank took ill, and for ten days lay in his bunk, growing weak from fever. His brother, unable to diagnose Frank's illness, decided to get the patient to the hospital.

He placed Frank on a bed-roll and started Thursday, January 25, with his five-day team for Cranberry Portage.

Breaking trail for twenty-four hours, the pair finally reached the North Star gold camp. They averaged only one mile per hour on the trail, and Jack was exhausted. Oakley William, a young mining engineer, saw his plight and Saturday started in forty below zero weather breaking trail. Jack followed with the patient on the carline.

When twelve miles from the railway they were sighted by Pilot Carl Yule. He picked up the ailing Frank and flew him to hospital here.

Hon. Raoul Dandurand
Tells of Talk He Had With President Roosevelt

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—An appeal to the United States to join the League of Nations had been made today by Senator Raoul Dandurand in the Senate. For seven years he was one of Canada's representatives on the League and president of the Assembly in 1925. He is a Liberal leader in the upper chamber.

After the election of President Roosevelt and before he was inaugurated, Senator Dandurand said before him the situation at Geneva. "I was received by him with great cordiality," the senator said yesterday. "I advised him that the League was often handicapped and at times helpless because of the absence of the United States from its councils and that since the war Europe has been floundering because of the lack of leadership which the United States alone could furnish."

In concluding his discussion of the United States position regarding the League of Nations he said: "Another war in Europe will cause the United States a rude and cruel awakening. I believe the world is now too small to make it possible for any country, be it the United States or not, to adopt a position of splendid isolation."

LAWYER SAYS
WOMAN HIDDENSmith-Scollard Case Again
Before Courts in Seattle

Associated Press

Seattle, Feb. 1.—The mysterious disappearance of a woman and a half ago the wealthy Mrs. Sarah E. Smith-Scollard, known as the "Hetty Green of La Salle Street," was attributed to the late Reese B. Brown, wealthy Yakima capitalist, in a petition filed in Superior Court here yesterday.

Brown met a tragic death last Saturday night near Yakima, when his car crashed into the rear of an unlighted truck.

The petition was brought by Denton G. Burdick, Portland attorney and former Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives. Seeking appointment of a guardian for Mrs. Smith-Scollard, he charged that Brown, after gaining control of her property, placed her in a secret hiding place and that she was "still secreted and held there."

SISTER MOVES
He announced he had been asked to take the action by the missing woman's sister, Margaret Corbett Fitzpatrick, of Oakland, California.

The petition recited that Mrs. Scollard's first husband, "Hecia Jim" Smith, left her an estate valued at more than a million dollars on his death in Chicago in 1904, and that a number of years later, when she came to Washington State to live, she met Brown in 1928.

Brown, the petition alleges, gained her confidence by "wiles and false promises and wrongful means" to an extent that he gained complete control over her and acquired possession of the major part of her property in this state.

STRANDED ON HONEYMOON
Mrs. Smith-Scollard attained prominence in 1927 when her second husband left her stranded in South America on their honeymoon. Later she charged that he had raced back to Washington State in an effort to gain possession of upwards of several hundred thousand dollars which she had left scattered around in banks, safety deposit boxes and her luxurious home outside of Bellingham, and she was awarded a divorce.

King's Picture No Longer on Bills Shows Change, Says
W. Irvine, M.P.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Replacement of the picture of the King by those of bankers on Canadian paper money is to William Irvine, U.F.A. Wetsikwan, an indication that the government is passing from the Sovereign and from Parliament to bankers. He so expressed himself in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in the debate on a national system of credit and finance.

"It does appear now that the authority to control credit is no longer in the hands of the authority of the state," the U.F.A. member asserted. "It has been delegated to another authority. That authority is permitted now to carry on the credit and financial services of the state for private gain."

"If you take up an ordinary bank note—that is if any of you are so fortunate as to have one—and look at it, you will discover the King's head no longer appears thereon, but the heads of banks. Of course, bankers' heads may be as good as kings' heads. I am not comparing heads, but I am indicating something has happened."

"The symbol of authority has been changed. We have gradually changed from the authority of the Sovereign to the authority of a financial group which puts its physiognomy on the currency of the state."

BUSINESS BASIS
GROWING WIDER

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 1.—Governments are taking an ever widening interest in business and business must be planned. "Within the frontiers of a country," the U.F.A. member asserted, "William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada, declared yesterday evening at a dinner of the Trade and Commerce Club of Toronto University."

After a survey of the tendencies in various countries to-day Sir William pointed to Russia, which had condemned not only the laissez-faire policy, but private enterprise—Italy seeking to preserve private enterprise within the framework of an elaborately ordered and disciplined economy; and the United States and the United Kingdom "feeling their way."

Canada Should

Roosevelt's Efforts Are Courageous

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Canada should study carefully and with a lot of sympathy the courageous efforts of the President of the United States to overcome the serious conditions with which that country is faced, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen declared in the Senate yesterday. As government leader in that chamber he was speaking on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne.

Canada was doing, he believed, the best it could to meet the unhappy situation in which it, along with the other countries in the world, found itself. Perhaps with the exception of Italy, the Dominion was making as great progress as any.

Day by day, hour by hour, this great problem of the unemployed was being impressed on him, Senator Meighen said.

"Young men of twenty years who have never known the joy of toil" were met on all sides. Great as the problems of this generation had been, the worst would doubtless witness problems ever more formidable and it was to be hoped solutions would be found for them.

Anchorage, Alaska, Feb. 1.—An explosion of Mount Katmai twenty-two years ago stripped Kodiak and other islands to the westward of small game. The United States reconstruction programme is putting them back.

Civil works administration funds are being used in this vicinity for the round-up of the humble snowshoe rabbit, not only to give employment to natives, but to replenish the small game on Kodiak, Afognak, Unimak, Unalaska and other islands so bears, foxes and other fur-bearing animals, and human inhabitants, will have an additional food source.

The work is under the direction of the Alaska Game Commission.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 1.—"Our older financial and political statesmen have over-worried themselves about high interest rates on Canada's $9,000,000,000 debts," said Robert J. Cromie, editor of The Vancouver-Sun, addressing the Empire Club here today. "They have underworried themselves over the minds and lives and futures of our 10,000,000 people. They must now realize a change is inevitable."

Urging adoption of some definite national plan for the Dominion's future, the Vancouver editor said, Canadians should "ruthlessly adjust finances, cut partyism to a quarter of its present importance, and concern themselves not so much with money and debts as with the lives and futures of the people."

"If we do this, we cannot miss occupying a favored position in world affairs, and an enjoyable living in Canada," he said.

UNCERTAINTY SEEN

Canadians were worried and uncertain at present, apparently unable to "snap out of their trouble." That was the fault of political leadership, Mr. Cromie thought. That was where Germany, Italy, Russia and the United States "had it over" Canada.

But Canada would have to "come to it." Her people could not go on telling boys there were no jobs or futures, which meant no marriages or futures for girls. This should not be so in a young, productive country like the Dominion.

Mr. Cromie, who returned recently from a trip to the Soviet Russia, coupled advice not to fear Russia, with the word: "Don't fear for the future of Canada." He urged Canadians to study Russia's soil productivity, technological standards and psychology, and learn how aptly Russians adjusted themselves to new trends.

"The secret of Russia's success is her policy of planning," he said. Russia was having hardship and privation, but people endured hardship willingly when they understood it was the foundation for a better future.

Russians lived as normally as Canadians, except they had not yet reached the same standard. The key to standards of living was found in soil, technology and ability to meet new conditions.

Canada's technological standard equaled that of the United States, far in advance of Russia. Her soil production assured a food supply for twenty or thirty times her present population. "Canadians should concern themselves with a plan that will create and distribute the work and wealth of our new rich Dominion," the speaker said. "Neither the political catagorisms of Mackenzie King nor the financial obsessions of Premier Bennett indicate they will put Canada back on its feet."

CUTTEN TAKES
WITNESS STAND

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Both sides had rested their cases today in the suit of John R. Mauff against Arthur W. Cutten, Ontario-born grain market operator, for $50,000 he claims due him for lobbying and "ghost writing" services.

Cutten, from the witness stand, told the jury the writings by Mauff, which had appeared under Cutten's name, had been done in a common cause, as both were members of the Chicago Board of Trade, and that there was no understanding between them that Mauff would be compensated by Cutten for his efforts.

At one point he said Mauff and he were partners "in this propaganda."

SENATOR DANDURAND'S APPEAL

Although it may not have the desired effect, the appeal which Senator Raoul Dandurand made in the Canadian Senate yesterday to the United States to join the League of Nations will be taken by President Roosevelt and the American people as a friendly gesture from one who for seven years was one of this Dominion's representatives on the League and president of the Assembly in 1925.

After the election of President Roosevelt and before he was inaugurated, Senator Dandurand told the Senate, he had laid before him the situation at Geneva. "I was received by him with great cordiality," the Senator said. "I advised him that the League was often handicapped and at times helpless because of the absence of the United States from its councils and that, since the war, Europe has been floundering because of the lack of leadership which the United States alone could furnish."

In concluding his discussion of our neighbor's position regarding the League of Nations, Senator Dandurand remarked: "Another war in Europe will cause the United States a rude and cruel awakening. I believe that the world is now too small to make it possible for any country, be it the United States or not, to adopt a position of splendid isolation."

The unfortunate feature about this business as far as the United States is concerned is that while the neighboring republic and Canada thoroughly understand one another, neither requiring any "ring of steel" to mark the boundary line or to provide that "security" of which the world has heard so much in recent years, the situation in Europe does not appear sufficiently alluring for the United States to induce it to do as Senator Dandurand and millions of other people would like it to do.

There is a substantial body of public opinion in the United States, of course, which would favor the republic's membership in the League of Nations. It is safe to predict, moreover, that were our neighbor to join, Russia, with her 165,000,000 people, would also apply for membership, and Germany and Japan, representing another 135,000,000 people, would want to be reinstated. Meanwhile, the world is armed to the teeth, and spending more money on armaments than it did before "the war to end war."

PRESIDENT HUNGERFORD OF THE C.N.

The appointment of Mr. S. G. Hungerford as president of the Canadian National Railways will afford marked satisfaction to not only the 75,000 employees of this great transportation system, but also to the Canadian people who are its immediate shareholders. Since the death of Sir Henry Thornton, Mr. Hungerford has been acting as vice-president of the Canadian National and in that capacity has given an admirable account of himself. He has proven himself to be a sagacious, far-sighted executive, with a thorough appreciation of his responsibilities as the chief administrator of a great trust for the Canadian people. He enjoys particularly the esteem and confidence of the employees of the far-ranging system over which he has presided, and there are present, therefore, in his orbit all the essentials of a successful career in his new post.

Mr. Hungerford is a railroad man through and through. For more than forty years he has been connected with this form of transportation in Canada, and there is scarcely a department with which he is not intimately familiar. He began as a machinist's apprentice with the South Eastern and Canadian Pacific, and worked his way upward through the various mechanical services, first with the C.P.R. and then with the Canadian Northern, and subsequently with the Canadian National, in the operation and construction branches of which he eventually filled important posts.

Mr. Hungerford's long and diversified experience, his outstanding ability and fine personal qualifications make it almost inevitable that he should succeed Sir Henry Thornton as the chief executive of the National system. Since he became vice-president a year and a half ago, he has effected many important economies without impairing the efficiency of the service to the public, while the spirit of co-operation he has manifested in his relations with the Canadian Pacific heads has been an appreciated contribution toward the solution of one of Canada's greatest problems.

Within the next few years far-reaching changes may develop in railroad transportation on this continent, which may reduce the cost of operation, and enable the railroads to meet competition from motor vehicles and airplanes. Several of the large systems in the United States already are trying out new kinds of rolling stock, operated by motors, at a speed which may permit them to cross the continent in a little more than two days. If these experiments prove successful, it will be only a matter of time before Canadian railroads will adopt similar changes to their own substantial profit. We may be assured that Mr. Hungerford, who is a keen, thoughtful student of transportation developments, is closely following these possibilities. In any and every case, however, it may be confidently predicted that he will completely justify his appointment as president of the Canadian National Railways.

ADVICE THAT SHOULD BE TAKEN

The Senate of the Irish Free State has passed a motion urging the government of Mr. de Valera to set up a joint commission to do something to put an end to the economic warfare between the Free State and Great Britain.

Effect this move will have upon President de Valera is not known until the lower chamber meets to discuss the matter. The Senate, of course, has a majority in opposition to the administration.

As the dispatch from Dublin reminds us, the economic strife between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State broke out in 1932, soon after the accession of the De Valera government—professedly republican—which decided to withhold from the Bank of England principal and interest payments due on a loan which had enabled Irish tenants to purchase freehold of land.

Mr. de Valera took the stand that annuity payments were not due the Bank of England and decided to place them in a suspension fund. The government of the United Kingdom retaliated by placing heavy duties on Free State products—increasing them afterward—which enabled it to collect revenue by which it hoped to meet the loss suffered through the non-payment of the annuities.

As a counter-measure, the Free State imposed numerous duties on imports from the United Kingdom. Efforts to settle the annuities dispute failed. Both countries have suffered a serious loss of business; but Britain naturally was better able to stand the loss than the Free State. Economic sanity eventually may prevail in the Free State government.

TRANSIENT UNEMPLOYED

When he was speaking at the luncheon of the Municipal Officers' Association, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands in the provincial government, alluded to the difficulties forced on Victoria and Vancouver by the arrival in these cities of transient unemployed from other provinces.

"The burden which these two cities in particular are forced to assume at the present time is an unfair one," the Minister said, "and it is time something was done about it by the federal government. Men coming in from other provinces are taken to camps operated under the supervision of the Department of National Defence, and after having been supplied with clothes, many of them desert and make a bee-line for Vancouver, which city is then forced to provide for them. Out of 1,400 single transients registered there now, over 1,200 of them come from other parts of Canada."

To the foregoing observations by Mr. Gray may be added those of Magistrate J. A. Findlay of Vancouver, who had to pass judgment on nineteen unemployed, men who had gone into a restaurant, ordered meals, and refused to pay for them. To the convicted men he said:

"When you quit a camp or are ejected, it is impossible for you to return. At least that is what a relief representative told me this morning. I do not know what I can do with you. If they were only one man I might be able to help personally."

It is impossible to justify your offense. You must understand that you can not walk into a restaurant and order a meal without paying for it.

There is one side of this case I consider absolutely unjust. The federal government says that it will look after you as long as you conform to the rules of the camps, but when you are ejected police immediately load you into buses and unload you on the city of Vancouver. This is an absolute injustice to the city.

The men in question were ejected from Fraser Valley relief camps and were brought to Vancouver and turned loose to obtain a living as best they could. If the government at Ottawa had tackled the problem of unemployment, as the leader and members of the party in office had promised to tackle, unemployment conditions in British Columbia coast cities would not be half as serious as they are at present.

QUAINT BELIEFS

It gives us Canadians a pleasant feeling of superiority to learn that the people of Nepal, that mysterious Himalayan kingdom north of India, believe that the recent Indian earthquake was caused by the flight of three British aviators over Mount Everest last spring. The gods of this mountain, according to the people of Nepal, are jealous of their peak's isolation, and get angry when men try to climb it.

When the British airplane went sailing over the summit, the gods decided things had gone far enough; so they jarred India with an earthquake that took 15,000 lives. This quaint tale is believed devoutly by the superstitious and unlettered people of the Himalayas, and it all sounds very childish to us.

Yet we have our own troubles in straightening out matters of cause and effect, especially where great national disasters are concerned, and in some ways we do not seem to be much better at it than the skin-clad tribesmen of Asia. We had our own earthquake four years ago in the form of a depression, and it jarred us badly. We are still feeling the effects of it.

We have blamed many things for our economic earthquake; but it suggests that we are, to some extent, at the mercy of certain forces which are not generally understood. The Himalayan peasants comprehend an earthquake. Perhaps, indeed, we shall have to accept the Himalayan explanation. We flew over a high mountain and the gods were vexed.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RESULTS OF INFLATION
St. Catharines Standard

There is still another big factor in Japan's penetration of world markets. That country has the cheapest money of any of the industrial nations of the world, and a cheap dollar, or yen as is the case with Japan, is cheap labor. The corollary of debased currency is debased labor, something every advocate of inflation should think about.

COST NOW KNOWN
The Boston Transcript

President Roosevelt, in his budget message, has presented the first clear picture of the cost of the New Deal. More important, he has visualized its future cost and, as definitely as he could, has set the date when the era of extraordinary expenditure will reach its end. He has clarified a situation which the people have regarded with increasing uneasiness, and they will adjust themselves more readily to matters of concrete knowledge than of their own disturbing and uninformed speculation. At least they can now see what is ahead, and it will modify their apprehension to feel that the President realizes that a limitation must be put on federal expenditures.

Loose Ends

A gentleman complains about a brain wave—Another about the state of the smoking human animal—We are ancient eggs on this way—but you can't understand it—and Mr. Manson sees an opportunity.

By H. B. W.

BRAIN WAVE

A GENTLEMAN WRITES me to complain that the newspapers of Canada are failing completely to reflect the new spirit abroad in the land. They are failing, he says, to reveal the wave of national spirit, of Canadianism, which has swept the Dominion from coast to coast. This is interesting and would be important if it were true. The newspaper's job, primarily, is to report what people are doing and saying, and, if possible, what they are thinking. Advising the people, telling them what to do, say and think, is a secondary function and not nearly so important. If there were any great wave of Canadianism sweeping the country, it could hardly escape the newspapers, even if they were blind to the inner thoughts of men. Such a wave would certainly show itself in some tangible form, in action or speech. It would probably express itself somehow in practical politics.

Well, the newspapers evidently haven't been called upon to report any such evidences, and I am not aware of any conspiracy of silence to keep these things dark. I can only conclude that the great wave which my friend sees is a brain wave of his own. This is regrettable in the extreme. I have frequently regretted it here before, but without avail. I have lost a number of friends by their refusal to let me say anything about the feeling and more sectional feeling in Canada than in any country of similar importance in the world.

Also, it is the only important nation that hasn't got together and tried to do something about the depression. But don't let my friend despair. Perhaps he has sensed something which so far has escaped the newspapers. Perhaps we are about to wake up.

SMOKES

A GENTLEMAN HAS just written to the editor to say that I am a good fellow but human, which latter fact, no doubt, will be a surprise to the public. My own correspondence suggests that I am suspected of being something less than human or something more. Anyway, this gentleman is gripped that I do not campaign in this column against the wretched vice of smoking and he ends with a religious sermon which would grace any pulpit.

I never could understand what smoking had to do with religion, but my friend kindly explains that if the Almighty had intended men to smoke He would have provided them with smokestacks. Consequently, as a man has no smokestack, and yet smokes, he is offending the Providential Design or something.

This logic appeals to me. In the same fashion if the Almighty had intended men to travel more than three miles an hour or perhaps four, He would have provided them with wheels. It is obviously an offense against the Providential Design to travel in automobiles, trains and airplanes. One could argue with good reason that if the Almighty had not intended us to go naked He would have provided us with a hairy coat. Clothes thus are seen to be immoral as, indeed, some of the smartest and best dressed undoubtedly appear to be. Certainly if the Almighty had intended us to eat our present diet He would have provided us with false teeth and saved us the expense of buying them. It can be argued also that if the Almighty had intended men to survive in a complicated society of the present sort, He would have provided them with considerably more intelligence.

QUITE RIGHT

ALTOGETHER, I THINK my friend is right. We are not intended to smoke. We were not intended to travel over three or four miles an hour. We were intended to go naked. We were not intended to live on our present diet.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

...Better Prepared ...Better Values

Why does it happen that the same kind of coal bought from different dealers are different? The answer is in their preparation. The answer is that this public are victimized with dirty coal, and often not the kind of coal ordered. The Kirk Coal Company has been established 45 years. They are a firm of standing in the business affairs of the city. They have a modern screening and storing plant. They have thousands of regular customers they are anxious to keep. Kirk's handle only the best Coals and recommend:

We were not intended, indeed, to live in a society of this sort, under conditions of this sort at all. We are all obviously offending against the Great Design. The entire state of civilization must be an offense against it.

But the trouble is that only a few fellows have the courage to live outside civilization and its ways; only a few fellows like Farmer Padbury and the little boy next door and me. The rest of you live in the great city over the hill and smoke like chimneys and travel at terrific speeds and wear immoral clothes and eat your soft, destructive diet. Even the fellows who write letters to the newspapers against smoking probably live in all other respects a thoroughly unnatural life and, while completely virtuous, are really very wicked without knowing it.

But in a civilization apparently about to bomb and gas itself into extinction, in a world of surplus food and widespread famine, in a state of general hatred, distrust and despair, it is refreshing indeed to find that some fellows are so well insulated by their virtue from it all that they can find time to worry about other fellows smoking.

ANCIENT EGGS

BUT AS FOR US who refuse to follow civilization and its evil ways, look at what happens to us. It rained last night. You may have heard it as you stirred in the sodden sleep of the great city, but it meant nothing to you. Yes, but it meant disaster and death to us.

Of course, you wouldn't understand about spraying apple trees. You probably have no idea how apples are produced, except a vague notion that they grow on vines. You go and buy a box of apples for a dollar or so and imagine that the man who grew them made a dollar very easily. You never saw a pear but weary pruners like the little girl next door, the little boy and me, laboring in the orchard, cutting out the unwanted branches, carting them away and burning them. You never saw us spraying our orchard yesterday.

Yes, we carted about great barrels of lime and sulphur spray, which smells precisely like aged eggs and reminds the little girl from next door of the eggs she found in the grass last summer and inadvertently walked on and smelled very bad herself the rest of the day. We cart this spray about. We dump it into the spraying machine. We pump and pump and pump until we can pump no more. We spray the apple-egg mixture all over the trees and all over ourselves, until we shall smell like ancient eggs well into the summer. Our skin is stung with it and some gets into the eyes of the little boy next door, who runs home, bawling, to inform his mother that he has been shot with the big gun of the man next door.

Then, after we have sprayed all the bugs off our orchard and most of the skin off ourselves, after the whole neighborhood smells of ancient eggs and we are not fit to enter a human habitation, down comes the rain and washes off all our spray. We must do it all over again. And when we give some fellow, like you in the city, a box of apples next fall, he will think to himself that we farmers have a soft time, picking our food off the tree. Just about that time we shall cease to smell like ancient eggs and shall start all spraying which will make us smell like skunked time. And in the city statesmen and others will be advising people to go back to the land.

LIBERALISM

MR. A. M. MANSON, K.C., former Attorney-General of British Columbia, says Liberalism must be Liberal or perish. The Vancouver Sun, which advocates a crusading Liberalism of the Left, expresses the fear in its editorial columns that the C.C.F. will split the real Liberal thought of the country in the next federal election and thus help the cause of Conservatism. It would be a national disaster, it says, if the people who are against reaction of the Bennett type, who really want to do something about the condition of the country, should divide their energies between what are really two Liberal groups—the official Liberal Party and the C.C.F. The editor feels it is for the C.C.F. supporters to get behind the Liberal Party so that the danger of a Conservative minority continuing in control may be averted.

Unquestionably the forces of reaction will seek to promote a split in their opponents. This is part of the ordinary manoeuvre of practical politics. But the responsibility of avoiding such a split does not rest alone with the C.C.F. The Liberal Party holds the real key to the whole situation. If the Liberal Party of Canada is sufficiently Liberal, there will be no need of the C.C.F. and no real place for it in our system. The people of Canada are not ready for complete socialism; not yet, anyway. But it is obvious that they want a profound change. If the Liberal Party is prepared to give it to them, it should and probably will receive the support of the great bulk of the people who otherwise will vote C.C.F. The next election will offer Canadian Liberalism the great opportunity of its history. If it fumbles that opportunity, it cannot complain at the C.C.F.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

(From The Times Files)

The Y.M.C.A. basketball team leaves tonight on the Princess Charlotte on its tour of the coast towns, to meet five cities in the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League. The team will consist of Whyte, McKittrick, Peterson, Campbell and Ross. Campbell, with Carme as spare man, Charley Mason will go to Portland next Saturday to play with the team there, but will be unable to get away for any of the other four games.

A report from the west coast states that the wrecked schooner Sequel is still on the Seabird Rock, the sea of the last week having hardly injured her at all. The lifeboat from Banfield has taken off most of the belongings of the crew, who went to Port Townsend, but there seems little likelihood of the vessel moving from her present position unless the sea should be higher than they have been recently, and that combined with a high tide.

Two ferry steamers have been secured by the Twin City Transportation Company, the opposition ferry line connecting North Vancouver with Vancouver City. The company's steamers, and replace the motor launches at present in use.

Mrs. R. P. Butchart is visiting friends in the east.

The Corona Walking Club held a handicap match at the Oak Bay track yesterday afternoon. The limit was having fifteen minutes in ten miles. The first man in was G. M. Dean, who walked the thirty laps in one hour and forty-six minutes (handicap, six minutes). Vaughan, who ran second place, again made the fastest time, going the ten miles in one hour forty-two minutes, starting from scratch.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO VANCOUVER ISLAND SCHOOL DISTRICTS

To the Editor:—In my humble opinion, now is the opportune time for the trustees of Vancouver Island school districts, in the interest of the ratepayers they represent, to petition the government for the ratepayers' rights under the Equilmait and Nanaimo Railway Charter, that school teachers' salaries shall be the government grant to school districts in the Equilmait and Nanaimo Railway area.

This privilege was abolished by the late government a few years ago, without a protest from the school trustees, except the Cedar school district, who I believe petitioned the other school districts of the island for joint action. I venture to say that their correspondence, in most cases, did not reach the ratepayers, which state of apathy has likely cost these school districts con-considerable extra taxation, in providing teachers' salaries.

I would suggest that the ratepayers of the island school districts request their trustees take joint action in this matter as soon as possible.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—On behalf of the "Vancouver Island Lifeboat Association" I wish to convey our very sincere thanks to Mr. Ernest Franklin who placed the Palais de Danse at our disposal, his staff and the Palais six orchestra, who contributed their services; Miss Berns Waring for entertainment; The Colonist and Times for assistance in advertising; and The Capital Press for supplying the tickets, making possible the holding of the dance in aid of the lifeboat fund.

Generally and co-operation of this nature are what are needed to insure the success of this undertaking.

B. C. GILLIE,
Chairman Finance Committee,

January 29, 1934.

"THE JOINT"

To the Editor:—There is a good article in Saturday Night of January 27, 1934, called "The Joint in Depression's Armor."

The writer shows in a graph that half a billion dollars was spent on public works from 1925 to 1931, a time when employment was easy to get. The writer makes the point that had these public works, or part of them at any rate, been put off till the years when private enterprise could not offer employment, the evils of depression would have been very much less.

Can public opinion be educated to the value of this policy? It involves some self-denial. But the country which can deny itself in good times will benefit tremendously in bad times. Half a billion dollars available for spending in bad times would provide $1,000 a year for five years for each of 100,000 men. Where would unemployment be then in Canada?

January 30, 1934.

RE WEST COAST ROAD

To the Editor:—Is it not time the taxpayers began to see some results from the large sums of their money spent on the West Coast Road?

Recently a little shaming has been done toward Sooke, from the Otter Point camp.

Year after year goes by with no real progress made. There has been 100 to 200 men supposedly working on this road for three years now.

Would it not be better to pay the men a dollar for a dollar's worth of work, than to give them a few cents a day to loaf?

The work is being done in the most uneconomical manner. The new road should have been started at the end of the existing Sooke Road, and completed a section at a time, then there would be something to show for the money spent.

Instead of that, the brains of the last administration adopted the bright idea of starting in the middle, with the result thousands of dollars wasted in wear and tear of tires and trucks, and heavy hauling over the long detour to get into the road.

So, all we have up to the present is a mile or two of half finished road, beginning in the bush and ending in the bush.

The section of proposed road from Sooke to Otter Point, and onward, will be one of the best scenic drives on the island.

And right here is a chance for the government to put their work and wages plan into operation and complete this portion of the road this year. We will then have the beginnings of a road for our money, instead of a thistle patch in the middle of the bush, as at present.

A TAXPAYER.

ELK LAKE

To the Editor:—I see reports in your paper for and against the swans at Elk Lake, and as a resident of Saanich I should like to ask a few questions. As the lake was declared a bird sanctuary in 1918, why did the Saanich Parks and Beaches Committee, which is composed of some members of the City Council and some of the Saanich Council, subsequent to that date spend close to $1,000 putting down sand, making beaches, putting up toilets, etc., and generally making the beach along the East Saanich Road a very attractive spot for Victoria residents and tourists alike to spend the day and give their children a real good time on the beach. That stretch of sand used to be crowded with people enjoying themselves. Last year hardly any one availed themselves of that accommodation, and I am told that the filthy

SENATOR DANDURAND'S APPEAL

Although it may not have the desired effect, the appeal which Senator Raoul Dandurand made in the Canadian Senate yesterday to the United States to join the League of Nations will be taken by President Roosevelt and the American people as a friendly gesture from one who for seven years was one of this Dominion's representatives on the League and president of the Assembly in 1925.

After the election of President Roosevelt and before he was inaugurated, Senator Dandurand told the Senate, he had laid before him the situation at Geneva. "I was received by him with great cordiality," the Senator said. "I advised him that the League was often handicapped and at times helpless because of the absence of the United States from its councils and that, since the war, Europe has been flourishing because of the lack of leadership which the United States alone could furnish."

In concluding his discussion of our neighbor's position regarding the League of Nations, Senator Dandurand remarked: "Another war in Europe will cause the United States a rude and cruel awakening. I believe that the world is now too small to make it possible for any country, be it the United States or not, to adopt a position of splendid isolation."

The unfortunate feature about this business as far as the United States is concerned is that while the neighboring republic and Canada thoroughly understand one another, neither requiring any "ring of steel" to mark the boundary line or to provide that "security" of which the world has heard so much in recent years, the situation in Europe does not appear sufficiently alluring for the United States to induce it to do as Senator Dandurand and millions of other people would like it to do.

There is a substantial body of public opinion in the United States, of course, which would favor the republic's membership in the League of Nations. It is safe to predict, moreover, that were our neighbor to join, Russia, with her 165,000,000 people, would also apply for membership, and Germany and Japan, representing another 135,000,000 people, would want to be reinstated. Meanwhile, the world is armed to the teeth, and spending more money on armaments than it did before "the war to end war."

PRESIDENT HUNGERFORD OF THE C.N.

The appointment of Mr. S. G. Hungerford as president of the Canadian National Railways will afford marked satisfaction to not only the 75,000 employees of this great transportation system, but also to the Canadian people who are its immediate shareholders. Since the death of Sir Henry Thornton, Mr. Hungerford has been acting as vice-president of the Canadian National and in that capacity has given an admirable account of himself. He has proven himself to be a sagacious, far-sighted executive, with a thorough appreciation of his responsibilities as the chief administrator of a great trust for the Canadian people. He enjoys particularly the esteem and confidence of the employees of the far-ranging system over which he has presided, and there are present, therefore, in his orbit all the essentials of a successful career in his new post.

Mr. Hungerford is a railroad man through and through. For more than forty years he has been connected with this form of transportation in Canada, and there is scarcely a department with which he is not intimately familiar. He began as a machinist's apprentice with the South Eastern and Canadian Pacific, and worked his way upward through the various mechanical services, first with the C.P.R. and then with the Canadian Northern, and subsequently with the Canadian National, in the operation and construction branches of which he eventually filled important posts.

Mr. Hungerford's long and diversified experience, his outstanding ability and fine personal qualifications made it almost inevitable that he should succeed Sir Henry Thornton as the chief executive of the National system. Since he became vice-president a year and a half ago, he has effected many important economies without impairing the efficiency of the service to the public, while the spirit of co-operation he has manifested in his relations with the Canadian Pacific heads has been an appreciated contribution toward the solution of one of Canada's greatest problems.

Within the next few years far-reaching changes may develop in railroad transportation on this continent, which may reduce the cost of operation, and enable the railroads to meet competition from motor vehicles and airplanes. Several of the large systems in the United States already are trying out new kinds of rolling stock, operated by motors, at a speed which may permit them to cross the continent in a little more than two days. If these experiments prove successful, it will be only a matter of time before Canadian railroads will adopt similar changes to their own substantial profit. We may be assured that Mr. Hungerford, who is a keen, thoughtful student of transportation developments, is closely following these possibilities. In any and every case, however, it may be confidently predicted that he will completely justify his appointment as president of the Canadian National Railways.

ADVICE THAT SHOULD BE TAKEN

The Senate of the Irish Free State has passed a motion urging the government of Mr. de Valera to set up a joint commission to do something to put an end to the economic warfare between the Free State and Great Britain.

What effect this move will have upon President de Valera will not be known until the lower chamber has had an opportunity of discussing the matter. The Senate, of course, has a majority in opposition to the administration.

As the dispatch from Dublin reminds us, the economic strife between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State broke out in 1932, soon after the accession of the De Valera government—professedly republican—which decided to withhold from the Bank of England principal and interest payments due on a loan which had enabled Irish tenants to purchase freehold of land.

Mr. de Valera took the stand that annuity payments were not due the Bank of England and decided to place them in a suspension fund. The government of the United Kingdom retaliated by placing heavy duties on Free State products—increasing them afterward—which enabled it to collect revenue by which it hoped to meet the loss suffered through the non-payment of the annuities.

As a counter-measure, the Free State imposed numerous duties on imports from the United Kingdom. Efforts to settle the annuities dispute failed. Both countries have suffered a serious loss of business; but Britain naturally was better able to stand the loss than the Free State. Economic sanity eventually may prevail in the Free State government.

TRANSIENT UNEMPLOYED

When he was speaking at the luncheon of the Municipal Officers' Association, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands in the provincial government, alluded to the difficulties forced on Victoria and Vancouver by the arrival in these cities of transient unemployed from other provinces.

"The burden which these two cities in particular are forced to assume at the present time is an unfair one," the Minister said, "and it is time something was done about it by the federal government. Men coming in from other provinces are taken to camps operated under the supervision of the Department of National Defence, and after having been supplied with clothes, many of them desert and make a bee-line for Vancouver, which city is then forced to provide for them. Out of 1,400 single transients registered there now, over 1,200 of them come from other parts of Canada."

To the foregoing observations by Mr. Gray may be added those of Magistrate J. A. Findlay of Vancouver, who had to pass judgment on nineteen unemployed, men who had gone into a restaurant, ordered meals, and refused to pay for them. To the convicted men he said:

"When you quit a camp or are ejected, it is impossible for you to return. At least that is what a relief representative told me this morning. I do not know what I can do with you. If it were only one man I might be able to help personally."

It is impossible to justify your offense. You must understand that you can not walk into a restaurant and order a meal without paying for it.

There is one side of this case I consider absolutely unjust. The federal government says that it will look after you as long as you conform to the rules of the camps, but when you are ejected police immediately load you into buses and unload you on the city of Vancouver. This is an absolute injustice to the city.

The men in question were ejected from Fraser Valley relief camps and were brought to Vancouver and turned loose to obtain a living as best they could. If the government at Ottawa had tackled the problem of unemployment, as the leader and members of the party in office had promised to tackle, unemployment conditions in British Columbia coast cities would not be half as serious as they are at present.

QUAINT BELIEFS

It gives us Canadians a pleasant feeling of superiority to learn that the people of Nepal, that mysterious Himalayan kingdom north of India, believe that the recent Indian earthquake was caused by the flight of three British aviators over Mount Everest last spring. The gods of this mountain, according to the people of Nepal, are jealous of their peak's isolation, and get angry when men try to climb it.

When the British airplane went sailing over the summit, the gods decided things had gone far enough; so they jarred India with an earthquake that took 15,000 lives. This quaint tale is believed devoutly by the superstitious and unlettered people of the Himalayas, and it all sounds very childish to us.

Yet we have our own troubles in straightening out matters of cause and effect, especially where great natural disasters are concerned, and in some ways we do not seem to be much better at it than the skin-clad tribesmen of Asia. We had our own earthquake four years ago in the form of a depression, and it jarred us badly. We are still feeling the effects of it.

We have blamed many things for our economic earthquake; but it suggests that we are, to some extent, at the mercy of certain forces which are not generally understood. The Himalayan peasants comprehend an earthquake. Perhaps, indeed, we shall have to accept the Himalayan explanation. We flew over a high mountain and the gods were vexed.

RESULTS OF INFLATION
 St. Catharines Standard

There is still another big factor in Japan's penetration of world markets. That country has the cheapest money of any of the industrial nations of the world, and a cheap dollar, or yen as is the case with Japan, is cheap labor. The corollary of debased currency is debased labor, something every advocate of inflation should think about.

COST NOW KNOWN
 The Boston Transcript

President Roosevelt, in his budget message, has presented the first clear picture of the cost of the New Deal. More important, he has visualized its future cost and, as definitely as he could, has set the date when the era of extraordinary expenditure will reach its end. He has clarified a situation which the people have regarded with increasing uneasiness, and they will adjust themselves more readily to matters of concrete knowledge than of their own disturbing and uninformed speculation. At least they can now see what is ahead, and it will modify their apprehension to feel that the President realizes that a limitation must be put on federal expenditures.

Loose Ends

A gentleman complains about a brain wave—Another about the state of the smoking human animal—We are ancient eggs out this way—but you can't understand it—and Mr. Manson sees an opportunity.

By H. B. W.

BRAIN WAVE

A GENTLEMAN WRITES me to complain that the newspapers of Canada are failing completely to reflect the new spirit abroad in the land. They are failing, he says, to reveal the wave of national spirit of Canadianism, which has swept the Dominion from coast to coast. This is interesting and would be important if it were true.

The newspapers' job, primarily, is to report what people are doing and saying and, if possible, what they are thinking. Advising the people, telling them what to do, say and think, is a secondary function and not nearly so important. If there were any great wave of Canadianism sweeping the country, it could hardly escape the newspapers, even if they were blind to the inner thoughts of men. Such a wave would certainly show itself in some tangible form, in action, or speech. It would probably express itself somehow in practical politics.

Well, the newspapers evidently haven't been called upon to report any such evidence, and I am not aware of any conspiracy of silence to keep these things dark. I can only conclude that the great wave which my friend sees is a brain wave of his own. This is regrettable in the extreme. I have frequently regretted it here before, but without avail. I have told a number of friends of mine that there was less national feeling and more sectional feeling in Canada than in any country of similar importance in the world.

Also, it is the only important nation that hasn't got together and tried to do something about the depression. But don't let my friend despair. Perhaps he has sensed something which so far has escaped the newspapers. Perhaps we are about to wake up.

SMOKES

A GENTLEMAN HAS just written to the editor to say that I am a good fellow but human, which latter fact, no doubt, will be a surprise to the public. My own correspondence suggests that I am suspected of being something less than human or something more. Anyway, this gentleman is gripped that I do not campaign in this column against the wretched vice of smoking and he ends with a religious sermon which would grace any pulpit.

I never could understand that smoking had to do with religion, but my friend kindly explains it to me. At mighty had intended men to smoke. He would have provided them with smokestacks. Consequently, as a man has no smokestack, and yet smokes, he is offending the Providential Design or something.

This logic appeals to me. In the same fashion if the Almighty had intended men to travel more than three miles an hour or perhaps four, He would have provided them with wheels. It is obviously an offence against the Providential Design to travel in automobiles, trains and airplanes. One could argue with good reason that if the Almighty had not intended us to go naked He would have provided us with a hairy coat. Clothes thus are seen to be immoral as, indeed, some of the smartest women's garments undoubtedly appear to be. Certainly if the Almighty had intended us to eat our present diet He would have provided us with false teeth and saved us the expense of buying them. It can be argued also that if the Almighty had intended men to survive in a complicated society of the present sort, He would have provided them with considerably more intelligence.

QUITE RIGHT

ALTOGETHER, I THINK my friend is right. We are not intended to smoke. We were not intended to travel over three or four miles an hour. We were intended to go naked. We were not intended to live on our present diet.

SIDE GLANCES

...Better Prepared ...Better Values

Why does it happen that the same kind of coal bought from different dealers are different? The answer is in their preparation. Since the depression started many new coal dealers have sprung up. Some of these have no screening plant whatever, and the result is that they sell you coal with dirt and clunk, and often not the kind of coal ordered. The Kirk Coal Company has been established 45 years. They are a firm of standing in the business affairs of the city. They have a modern screening and storing plant. They have thousands of regular customers who are anxious to keep Kirk's handle only the best Coals and recommend:

We were not intended, indeed, to live in a society of this sort; under conditions of this sort at all. We are all obviously offending against the Great Design. The entire state of civilization must be an offence against it.

But the trouble is that only a few fellows have the courage to live outside civilization and its ways; only a few fellows like Farmer Pickens and the little boy next door and me. The rest of you live in the great city over the hill and smoke like chimneys and travel at terrific speeds and wear immoral clothes and eat your soft, destructive diet. Even the fellows who write letters to the newspapers against smoking probably live in all other respects a thoroughly unnatural life and, while completely virtuous, are really very wicked without knowing it.

But in a civilization apparently about to bomb and gas itself into extinction, in a world of surplus food and widespread famine, in a state of general hatred, distrust and despair, it is refreshing indeed to find that some fellows are so well insulated by their virtue from it all that they can find time to worry about other fellows smoking.

ANCIENT EGGS

BUT AS FOR US who refuse to follow civilization and its evil ways, look at what happens to us. It rained last night. You may have heard it. It is refreshing indeed to find that some fellows are so well insulated by their virtue from it all that they can find time to worry about other fellows smoking.

Of course, you wouldn't understand about spraying apple trees. You probably have no idea how apples are produced, except a vague notion that they grow on vines. You go and buy a box of apples for a dollar or so and imagine that the man who grew them made a dollar very easily. You never saw expert but weary pruners like the little girl next door, the little boy and me, laboring in the orchard, cutting out the unwanted branches, carting them away and burning them. You never saw us spraying our orchard yesterday.

Yes, we carted about great barrels of lime and sulphur spray, which smells precisely like aged eggs and reminds the little girl from next door of the eggs she had found in the grass last summer and inadvertently walked on of the day. We cart this spray about. We pump and pump and pump until we can pump no more. We spray the ancient-egg mixture all over the trees and all over ourselves, until we shall smell like ancient eggs well into the summer. Our skin is stung with it and some gets into the eyes of the little boy next door, who runs home, howling, to inform his mother that he has been shot with the big gun of the man next door. Then, after we have sprayed all the bugs off our orchard and most of the skin off ourselves, after the whole neighborhood smells of ancient eggs and we are not fit to enter a human habitation, down comes the rain and washes off all our spray. We must do it all over again. And when we give some fellow, like you in the city, a box of apples next fall, he will think to himself that we farmers have a soft time, picking our food off the tree. Just about that time we shall be too small like ancient eggs and shall start fall spraying which will make us smell like staked time. And in the city statesmen and others will be advising people to go back to the land.

"I'd rather stay home with you, dear, but business is business."

LIBERALISM

MR. A. M. MANSON, K.C., former Attorney-General of British Columbia, says Liberalism must be the ideal of the future. The Vancouver Sun, which advocates a crusading Liberalism of the Left, expresses the fear in its editorial columns that the C.C.F. will split the real Liberal thought of the country in the next federal election and thus help the cause of conservatism. It would be a national disaster, it says, if the people who are against reaction of the Bennett type, who really want to do something about the condition of the country, should divide their energies between what are really two Liberal groups—the official Liberal Party and the C.C.F. supporters to get behind the Liberal Party so that the danger of a Conservative minority continuing in control may be averted.

Unquestionably the forces of reaction will seek to promote a split in their opponents. This is a part of the ordinary manoeuvre of practical politics. But the responsibility of avoiding such a split does not rest alone with the C.C.F. The Liberal Party holds the real key to the whole situation. If the Liberal Party of Canada is sufficiently Liberal, there will be no need of the C.C.F. and no real place for it in our system.

The people of Canada are not ready for complete socialism; not yet, anyway. But it is obvious that they want a profound change. If the Liberal Party is prepared to give it to them, it should and probably will receive the support of the great bulk of the people who otherwise will vote C.C.F.

The next election will offer Canadian Liberalism the great opportunity of its history. If it fumbles that opportunity, it cannot complain at the C.C.F.

 You will be old and cautious soon enough
 When the swift years have cooled your youth
 And do not cheat your heart of its wild mood
 Think not you can regain this drifts down the west
 Think not a day ten years from now will be
 So brimmed with poignant power to pierce your breast
 To every season certain things belong
 As has to our peculiar trials, and youth
 Is like the morning; give it light and song
 That it may pass into the twilight of the day
 You will be very calm and wise some day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 February 1, 1909
 (From The Times Files)

The Y.M.C.A. basketball team leaves tonight on the Princess Charlotte on its tour of the coast towns, to meet five cities in the Y.M.C.A. basketball league. The team will consist of Whyte, McKelrick, Pettierew, Campbell and Rosecamp, with Carme as spare man. Chilly weather in Portland next Saturday to play with the team there, but will be unable to get away for any of the other four games.

A report from the west coast states that the wrecked schooner Soquel is still on the Seabird Rock, the sea of the last week having hardly injured her at all. The lifeboat from Banfield has taken off most of the belongings of the crew, who went to Port Townsend, but there seems little likelihood of the vessel moving from her present position unless the sea should be higher than they have been recently, and that combined with a high tide.

Two ferry steamers have been secured by the Twin City Transportation Company, the opposition ferry line connecting North Vancouver with Vancouver City. These are commodious steamers, and replace the motor launches at present in use.

Mrs. R. P. Butchart is visiting friends in the east.

The Corona Walking Club held a handicap match at the Oak Bay track yesterday afternoon, the limit, man having fifteen minutes in ten miles. The first man in was G. M. Dean, who walked the thirty laps in one hour and forty-six minutes (handicap, five minutes). Vaughan, who got second place, again made the fastest time, going the ten miles in one hour forty-two minutes, starting from scratch.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO VANCOUVER ISLAND SCHOOL DISTRICTS

To the Editor:—In my humble opinion, now is the opportune time for the trustees of Vancouver Island school districts, in the interest of the ratepayers they represent, to petition the government for the ratepayers' rights under the Equitable and Nanaimo Railway Charter, that school teachers' salaries shall be the government grant to school districts in the Equitable and Nanaimo Railway area.

This privilege was abolished by the late government a few years ago, without a protest from the school trustees, except the Cedar school district, who I believe petitioned the other school districts of the island for joint action.

 I would suggest that the ratepayers of the island school districts request their trustees take joint action in this matter as soon as possible.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—On behalf of the "Vancouver Island Lifeboat Association" I wish to convey our very sincere thanks to Mr. Ernest Franklin who placed the Palais de Danse at our disposal, his staff and the Palais six orchestra, who contributed their service; Miss Berna Waring for entertainment. The Colonel and Times for assistance in advertising, and The Capital Press for supplying the tickets, making possible the holding of the dance in aid of the lifeboat fund.

Generally and co-operation of this nature are what are needed to insure the success of this undertaking.

"THE JOINT"

To the Editor:—There is a good article in Saturday Night of January 27, 1934, called "The Joint in Depression's Armory."

The writer shows in a graph that half a billion dollars was spent on public works from 1925 to 1931, a time when unemployment was easy to get. The writer makes the point that had these public works, or part of them at any rate, been put off till the years when private enterprise could not offer employment, the evils of depression would have been very much less.

Can public opinion be educated to the value of this policy? It involves some self-denial. But the country which can deny itself in good times will benefit tremendously in bad times. Half a billion dollars available for spending in bad times would provide $1,000 a year for five years for each of 100,000 men. Where would unemployment be then in Canada?

Morale Of Needy Kept Up By W.I. Self-help Creed

Rural Women of B.C. Raised $40,000 For Community Betterment Last Year

Superintendent Tells of Members Who Walk Miles to Attend Institutes

Women's Institutes in British Columbia at June 30, 1933, had a membership of 3,732 rural women, grouped in 161 local institutes, and raising for institute work approximately $40,000, of which one-quarter was spent in direct charity and community betterment. This latter sum does not include donations of eggs, fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, sewing work done by various institutes for local hospitals, the Solarium, the Crippled Children's Hospital and the Salvation Army Hospital.

The foregoing is one of the interesting statements contained in the annual report prepared by Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, provincial superintendent of Women's Institutes, and presented to Hon. C. C. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

HELP KEEP UP MORALE

New institutes were organized at Saturna Island and Ganges in the Gulf Islands; Bon Accord, Deveraux, Ernie, Mill Valley, Sunrise Valley, Sunnybrook, Stewart, Flats, Tupper Creek and Willow Valley in the Peace River district; Delta and Pinegrove in the south Fraser district; Magna Bay and Proctor in the southern interior.

Under the heading of "Community Betterment," the report notes that undoubtedly the institutes have contributed very considerably to keeping up the morale of many people in need of inspiring continued efforts of self-help.

Where traveling libraries have not been obtainable, institutes have assembled all available books in the evening. Members present were Misses Audrey Bland, Doris Bennett, Mary Ross, Tommy Gray, Olive Ormond, Louise Ormond, Margaret Hemming, Evelyn Morrison, Jean Drysdale, Dorothy Ashmun and Katherine Barlow.

Construction or improvement to community halls has been carried out by institute at Mount Ida, Burton, West Saskatoon Creek, Squamish and Howe Sound.

Beach improvement has been undertaken by institutes at Esquimalt and Nanaimo. At the former, the ladies have leased the beach, keeping it clear of logs and in a sanitary condition. Shawigan Institute provides a swimming instruction.

Nelson Institute conducts a women's exchange for produce and handicrafts received from various institutes in West Kootenay. Bon Accord, in the Peace River, sponsored the first dramatic festival under Women's Institutes in British Columbia. Four cents completed.

WALK MILES TO MEETINGS

The grim aspect of frontier life is featured in two reports from local institutes. One secretary says, "It is almost pathetic to see the way the women from the country enjoy the monthly meetings." Another secretary, in apologizing for the order of procedure at meetings explained that meetings began with tea and social hour, as most of the members walked four or five miles to the meetings, and having seen no one but her immediate family since the last meeting, every woman needed "to get her talk out" before settling down to business.

The supplying of cocoa or hot soup for lunches of school children in cold weather is a feature of institute work under the heading of "Education and Better Schools," the superintendent of institutes states, instancing what is done at Prince George and Fraser Lake, where institute members take turns in supplying soup materials and go to the school to serve the soup each day.

The development of local talent for demonstrations in home economics has been followed in the interests of economy. Mrs. McLachlan reports. Institutes have been encouraged to make use of particularly proficient members of their own communities for giving talks of ten or fifteen minutes' duration, in some special line.

Other institutes held cooking competitions, sewing and knitting classes, or manual training classes for boys. Many of these classes have been conducted with the assistance of the Department of Education.

Bonington and South Slokan Institutes each raised funds to pay for board and lodging for a boy attending high school at Nelson.

JUBILEE W.A. MAKE GIFTS

Auxiliary Votes $520 For Oxygen Tent and Scialytic Lamp

Women Giving Valuable Assistance to Hospital in Many Ways

As further evidence of the practical assistance which they are rendering to the Jubilee Hospital, the Women's Auxiliary at its meeting yesterday afternoon voted the sum of $400 for the purchase of an oxygen tent, and for a further $120 for the purchase of a scialytic lamp for the caseroom.

In addition, the auxiliary, at Miss Mitchell's request, voted the necessary money for the purchase of six dozen baby towels and a bolt of Canton flannel and flannelette, needed for the fourth floor, which is the W.A.'s special charge.

NECESSARY EQUIPMENT

Mrs. John Phethean, the president, was in the chair.

The outlay for the oxygen tent was authorized after Dr. T. W. Walker, the new medical superintendent, introduced by Miss Mitchell, had called the members' attention to the value of the oxygen tent in connection with pneumonia and other cases calling for the administration of oxygen.

As no meeting was held in December, a considerable amount of routine business was transacted yesterday. The membership committee reported dues paid by the following: Mrs. W. Sloan, Mrs. C. B. Charlewood, Mrs. W. Adamson, Mrs. R. T. Elliott, Mrs. G. H. Barnard and Mrs. D. J. Angus.

Mrs. J. L. Crimp, convener of sewing committee, reported a most gratifying amount of work done since the last meeting.

Victoria Presbyterial—The executive committee of the Victoria Presbyterial will meet in the ladies' parlor of the First United Church on Friday at 2:30 o'clock. The annual reports of the various officers will be received and passed.

IS TAKING STUDIO IN NEW YORK

Miss Edythe Hembroff, well-known young Victoria artist who left here last August via California and the Panama Canal for New England, and has been visiting her sister, Mrs. L. P. Herrington, in New Haven, Conn., will leave there shortly for New York, where she will take a studio. During her stay in New Haven, Miss Hembroff has been working with a group of artists, an experience which she describes as "most stimulating," and she anticipates with much pleasure the more varied and far-reaching contacts she expects to make in New York, where she will spend the next few months. Miss Hembroff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hembroff of Craigdarroch, and spent several years in Paris studying art.

HONORED FOR MAPPING STARS

Oxford Confers M.A. on Miss Ethel Bellamy, Astronomer

London, Feb. 1.—For mapping the position of 1,000,000 stars, Miss Ethel Bellamy has received an honorary degree of Master of Arts from Oxford University.

Now forty-five years of age, Miss Bellamy has been assistant director of the university's observatory for many years.

The world's observatories "divided" the sky between them forty years ago in order that the position of every star might be determined. Thanks to Miss Bellamy and her uncle, the director, Oxford accomplished its quota quickly and then turned to assist the Vatican Observatory, which had been behind in its work. For this Miss Bellamy received a silver medal from the Pope.

In her spare time between periods of star-gazing, Miss Bellamy makes her own dresses.

And then James Riley Ritchey staggered into a newspaper office here with 683 threads through the eye of a needle.

"I done it all for you, mom," he cried in glee.

In no time at all, however, the postman arrived. And a reporter shouted: "Mrs. Louise McAbee of Port Angeles has just sent in a needle with 730 threads in it."

Seattle, Feb. 1. (Associated Press).—The needle-threading champions are succeeding each other almost at hourly intervals, as far and wide over Washington State, with raw fingers and disoriented eyes, they push and pull in their mad races.

ON GOLF CLUB'S BALL COMMITTEE

At one time I held forth in a pediatric clinic in a large hospital. Next to our clinic there was the eye, ear, nose and throat one. Every clinic day I heard the howls and screams of small victims who often had to be physically subjugated with tight winding sheets and several helpful nurses before the doctor could even look in the child's nose or throat.

PREPARE CHILD

Such a fearful situation would be impossible if the parent were continuously honest with the child. Beforehand she should explain in detail exactly what is going to happen and probably what it will feel like. It is imperative that she explain when it will hurt and what the hurt will be like. No child, or for that matter, no adult is called upon to suffer much pain these days, the end and aim always being to soothe the pain. It is because children have learned to suspect us that we so seldom get the right response when we say, "It won't hurt."

No experience should in itself frighten a child. But the unusual experience with the doctor or the dentist, that turns out to be worse than anticipated, forever terrifies the child. Win the child's confidence so that when the mother says, "It won't hurt," it won't, and when she says, "This will hurt a little bit," the knowledge will bolster up the child's courage sufficiently to meet it.

CALL OF THE WEST

R. G. MONTGOMERY

Leaping from the black mare he ran toward the cabin. Long tongues of flame licked upward and the walls, Stan shielded his face with his arm and plunged ahead. He was forced to retreat when ten feet from the door, his clothes smoking and his hands smarting.

He ran around the cabin and approached from the unburned side. A dash brought him close to the wall and he slid around into the flames and smoke and jerked the door open. Bending low, he leaped inside.

The room was dense with smoke and spurts of flame shot between the logs. The heat was intense as Stan took in the scene. The pile of clothes, Swergin had left in the centre of the room attracted him first. He pawed them over and tried to look around the room. There was no sound, and he called loudly twice. Only the crackling flames answered.

Stan bent low and whirled toward the door. He could stay no longer. As he leaped a groan came to him from the west wall. Whirling he sprang across the room and his outstretched hands touched a crumpled figure.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of Condensed JAD Salts in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Stan grasped the man around the shoulders and tried to lift him. The limp form was bound fast to the wall. Like a flash, Stan whipped out his knife and slashed the rope. The return to safety was a mad scramble and Stan suffered an agonized heat and choking fumes. He staggered out into the clearing with his hands to his eyes and coughed. He sat down to choke and coughed the smoke from his lungs. When he was able to see again and had recovered his breath he bent over the man he had rescued.

Turning him over, Stan stared at the blue and choked features. "Asper Delo!" he muttered in astonishment. Then he went at the work of restoring the man to life.

Asper came around slowly, not injured to any great extent. He recognized Stan as soon as he opened his eyes, and a smile parted his blistered lips.

"If you can make it I'll try to cut back some of the bush around this cabin so that the fire will not cross the clearing," Stan grinned.

Stan tried to hold Stan back. He wanted to tell him something but his throat was so dry and tortured from the smoke that he could not speak. He lay back and let his lungs pump themselves clear.

Stan tried every trick that he knew to keep the flames from spreading and then returned to Asper. But his work was futile. The old man would have to ride in and get help; that was the only way a disaster could be averted. He ran around the cabin and ducked through the smoke. Stopping where he had left Asper he looked around, then his lips pulled into a straight line. The timber man was gone!

"Still bent on taking me, I guess," Stan spoke bitterly. "I think he can get a gang of men here while I fight this fire." Stan said a green thought had been using to beat out grass flames. Stan whistled to his mare. He might as well make a run for it before he had to use a gun to get away.

He had a foot in the stirrup when a husky voice halted him. "Just a minute, Ball."

Stan whirled to see Asper running through the smoke toward him. "I had to get a swallow of water to talk," Asper held out a grimed hand.

back drowsily and drank in the pitch-spiced air from the forest. A heavy step on the porch aroused her. She started, wide awake, to see Swergin coming up the steps. He was hatless and his clothes were badly torn. It was clear he was looking for her, and she waited for him to speak.

"Ball and your old man just met up on the ridge," Swergin began with cruel bluntness. The color left Dona's face and she gripped the arm of her chair. "What happened?" she demanded weakly. "The old man is shot badly," Swergin lied.

Dona did not cry out but two big tears rolled out from under her long lashes and fell on her clenched hands. "How could he do it?" she choked. "If you can stand the ride up there, you ought to go," Swergin spoke with a trace of feeling. "I don't think there is a chance to move him from the cabin I put him in."

What happened to Ball? Dona could not keep the question back. "Got away like he always has," Swergin snarled.

"Go and get a horse and I'll try to ride up with you," Dona spoke weakly. The shock had been almost more than she could bear.

Swergin left the porch and strode toward the corral. When his back was squarely turned a flash of grin spread over his heavy features. At the corral he found no attendant and had to do the saddling himself. This delayed him a few minutes.

Dona sat staring out across the clearing with unseeing eyes. She was torn by conflicting emotions. Stan Ball was a traitor. When he was found. At that moment she felt she could stand again under the tree on the ridge above and watch him hang without a touch of sympathy.

She wished Dudley was at her side. He had never been on hand when he really needed him and she wondered if it was always to be that way. He furnished a very thin barrier against the hurries that came unasked.

Swergin was leading two horses up the path. Dona watched him come and a feeling of loathing crept over her despite the anxiety that tugged at her heart. Like a hunking ape Swergin moved up the hill, his long arms dangling by his sides and his massive chin sticking out as he strode along. It was terrible to have no one else to fight for you but a man like Swergin.

The timber boss dropped the reins in the padded space before the steps of the main building and faced Dona. "You'll have to carry me down to the horse," Dona said weakly.

Swergin grinned and took a step forward. Suddenly he halted, his feet planted wide. The grin faded and his eyes began to bulge, while one big arm slid to the gun holster at his hip.

Dona stared at him in surprise. It was plain that Swergin was seeing a ghost or worse. Her eyes traveled with his gaze and she saw Stan Ball standing at the corner of the building. Both his hands were held wide from his side and his eyes were fixed upon the timber boss's face. He had not seen Dona on the porch.

I came to get you, Swergin," he snarled. "Go for your gun." Swergin already was pulling at his holster. Both men bent forward and two guns cleared almost instantly. Streaky flames spurted as their six guns roared. Dona could not take her eyes from Stan's face. It was so hard and cold. After the crashing report he was still standing there, his gun smoking in his hand. Slowly Dona forced her eyes from him to where Swergin had been standing. The timber boss lay on his face in a crumpled heap in the dust.

Suddenly Dona's panic swept away. She was alone and became a tigress, defending her own. Ball had been as ruthless as a vandal. He had persecuted and killed without staying his hand. Reaching back she jerked from her pocket a small revolver and fired to fix as a souvenir and pumped at cartridge into it. Leveling it as steadily as her weakened condition would permit she fired blankly at Stan. He turned around, half facing her, and slowly crumpled up to lie almost touching Swergin. Dona covered her face with her hands, and the rifle slid to the porch floor. It seemed Stan had smiled at her as he went down. Ball was certain he had seen and known her.

Dona faltered away for a minute but came back to consciousness fighting for control of herself. Her eyes lifted reluctantly to the padded space outside the porch. The two men were just there they had fallen. Slowly Dona slid from her chair and made her way down the steps.

Passing the still form of Swergin he bent over Stan Ball and lifted his head to her. Tears blinded her eyes and she rocked gently back and forth. "Why did you do it?" she whispered. "Oh, why did you have to come back like this?" Stan did not stir, his eyes remained closed. Dona was too hysterical and upset from the ordeal of the past half hour to think of aiding him. She wanted him to die, and she wanted him to live, but she knew as his head rested in her lap that she loved him and all ways would.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1934

According to astrology this is not a favorable day in planetary direction. The rule favors the sun and the experiments of mystics.

Under this direction of the stars it is easy to be deceived by the wise and beware of soothsayers of every description. Temptation to inquire into the future will be strong. The sign usually promises good results, but the only exact science of forecasting events is the ancient system of astrology.

Political excitement and widespread distrust of financial policies will focus attention all through the month. International difficulties are discerned, but they will vary.

Weather conditions in various parts of the country may offer extraordinary difficulties in relief projects and in all forms of transportation. Earthquakes in certain places are predicted.

On the Pacific Coast conditions due to the recent depression in business will cause uneasiness and a new wave of emigration from the coast to the interior is being planned.

Health should be safeguarded with special care since an influenza epidemic may be difficult to overcome this month and next. Persons whose birthdate it is may expect a fairly fortunate year, but there may be mysteries for a few and journeys for many. These anomalies usually seek advice which they seldom follow. Many have power as spiritual healers.

Children born on this day may be of imaginative mind and sensitive nature. The subjects of this sign usually possess good minds and many have artistic talents.

Uncle Wiggily's Flying Sled

By Howard R. Garis

After Uncle Wiggily had gone ice boat riding and Mr. and Mrs. Twisty, the lady pig, had skated home with empty condensed milk can tins for skates, the rabbit gentleman wanted to do something else to have an adventure.

"But what do you want to do?" asked his wife, as she saw him twinkling his pink nose in front of the looking glass, which he always did before he hopped out.

"I don't just know what I want to do," answered Mr. Longears. "You know by to-morrow the winter will be half gone and I should have as much fun as I can in the snow and ice before spring comes."

"Oh, yes, to-morrow is Candlemas Day," said the lady rabbit. "I had almost forgotten."

"Candlemas Day or Bear Day or Groundhog Day, whichever you want to call it," said Uncle Wiggily. "The old story is that if, on Candlemas Day, a snow shiner, so the bear or groundhog sees his shadow, he will crawl back into his den and sleep for six weeks more, during which time it will be winter. But if the sun doesn't shine and if the bear or groundhog doesn't see any shadow, he only sleeps four weeks and it will be spring that much earlier."

"Do you believe that?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Why don't you go coasting again?" said the lady rabbit.

"Not exactly," her husband answered with a laugh. "But I would like to have an adventure."

"There is plenty of snow left on the hill," said the lady rabbit.

"Yes, coasting is a good jolly adventure," agreed the rabbit gentleman. "It's lots of fun to coast down hill, but it isn't any fun to have to walk back up hill dragging your sled."

"Then," said his wife, "why don't you make a sled that will go back up hill of itself and take you with it the same as a sled goes down hill."

"It can't be done!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Nonsense!" snarled his wife. "Don't tell me that! If a sled can slide down hill it can slide up, I'm sure. The trouble is, nobody believes it and so they never try it. I should think you would, Wiggie!"

"Well, I never saw a sled yet that would slide up hill," said Mr. Longears. "And if you don't believe me, my dear, suppose you come out on the coasting hill with me and see for yourself. I'll give you a ride down but I think you will have to walk up yourself."

"We'll see," said Mrs. Longears. So, there being a little time before the rabbit children could come hopping home from school hungry for lunch, Mrs. Longears went with Uncle Wiggily to the hill.

Very politely he gave her a ride there and he helped her to sit down on his sled at the top of the hill. Then he pushed her sled. Oh, I mean he gave the sled a push and he and his wife went gaily coasting to the bottom of the hill.

"Now, we're down," said Mrs. Longears. "Just sit at your sled, Wiggie, and wish—wish very hard—that it will fly back with you and me to the top. Wish very hard. I'll wish also."

So Uncle Wiggily closed his eyes and wished. Mrs. Longears kept her eyes open and wished—but nothing happened. They just remained at the bottom of the hill on the sled.

"See, I told you so!" said the rabbit gentleman. "We aren't going up at all."

"Then something is wrong," declared Mrs. Longears. "You can't have wished hard enough. I know I did but if you didn't there's no use."

"I'm sure I wished as hard as I could," said the rabbit gentleman.

"No, I'm afraid you didn't," sighed the rabbit lady. "No matter. You'll have to pull me back up hill now. Wiggie, I'll have to hurry home and get the children's lunches."

PUT YOUR LEFT-OVER SOUP TO GOOD USE

Do you regard a cup of left-over soup with some resentment as just so much waste? Don't, because it can be made to serve many culinary purposes. Soups always are highly seasoned and are a decided help in changing flavors, combining with other materials in—sauces, salads and meat dishes and in extending and utilizing other left-overs in a savory fashion.

Canned soups, too, lend themselves to many excellent dishes and simplify their making to a marked degree. For instance, canned tomatoes must be simmered until reduced, seasoned and strained before they can be used in a sauce, while the soup is ready for instant use.

Dishes made with rice, macaroni, spaghetti, kidney and navy beans gain much by the addition of tomato soup or clear soup such as bouillon.

Consomme improves many a cream sauce and jellied salad.

Cream soups can be made into satisfactory sauces for vegetables of contrasting flavor.

Tomato cheese toast is a good luncheon dish that uses tomato soup to advantage.

Edmonton, Feb. 1.—Protesting against censorship of foreign reading matter sent through the mails, delegates at a meeting of the Edmonton central council of the Canadian Labor Party passed a resolution asking J. S. Woodsworth, Winnipeg Labor M.P., to raise the matter on the floor of the federal House and to obtain the policy of the federal government with regard to "literary censorship."

Municipalities Promised Some Action By Cabinet

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and Ministers Hear Appeals of Delegates to Union Convention For Immediate Assistance

Something will be done by the provincial government after the consideration of resolutions submitted to it by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities following the return of Premier T. D. Pattullo, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, told delegates to the union convention at a hearing in the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

Just what steps would be taken were not indicated by the minister, who had previously expressed the view that virtually all expected provincial revenue for the ensuing year was already pledged.

He was accompanied to the meeting by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and prospective minister of the proposed new municipal department; Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor and Fisheries Commission; Hon. George M. Weir, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary; Hon. K. C. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture and Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Work.

The purpose of the meeting was to give the municipal delegates a chance to lay before the members of the cabinet their problems, along with suggestions as to how they might be made less difficult.

After welcoming the ministers, Reeve William Crouch, retiring president of the union, spoke of the dire straits in which some districts found themselves, stating many virtually necessary services would have to be discontinued unless the government came to their assistance. Schools would have to be closed for part of the year and public works, deemed necessary, would have to be drastically cut by some municipalities, he said.

Alderman George Miller, Vancouver, outlined to the cabinet members the general case of his city as it affected all municipalities.

He reaffirmed the substance of the municipalities' brief to the government, and warned the government against economizing at the expense of the municipalities, which were in the poorest position to stand such action. Touching on the province's reduction in grants, he stated that policy was not economy, but merely shifting the load onto the other party.

Dealing with the yoke of social services placed around the neck of the municipalities, he touched upon the costs of mental hospitals, correction houses and other items.

HEAR FULL RELIEF COSTS
Alderman Miller traced the reduction in the amount given to the municipalities for education and then turned to the question of relief costs. In as much as the government had hoisted on to the organized districts the up-keep of various services, it had virtually charged against them full costs of relief, he declared.

In conclusion he dealt with the expensive economies forced upon the municipalities with regard to their enforced action in impairing the efficiency of the departments.

Mayor E. L. Groutage, Trail, presided at the hearing for the Kootenays which, he declared, differed greatly from that of the coast.

In his district the council had been averse to giving relief without work and had carried through aid programmes by creating public works of lasting value. With further government aid, in the form of a larger share of material expenses, the policy would be continued, he believed.

He also advocated a policy of taxing unearned increment, and stated layies could be made on land transfers in the areas surrounding and including the district from which he came.

Reeve R. C. McDonald, Coquitlam, repeated pleas for return of government grants and freedom from social service costs. He could not see how it was possible to save the taxpayer under existing conditions and the limitations placed upon municipalities.

"On THE SPOT," he said, "we are here to put you on the spot to live up to your election promises, which were reasonable," he stated.

Continuing, he referred to Premier Pattullo's condemnation of the previous government for bankrupting municipalities. All that was necessary, he said, was to have the government use its powers to secure money from sources where there was some.

"We are faced with problems that are difficult but not insurmountable," Mayor Leeming stated in introducing his case. He called for courageous action even if it caused resentment.

Turning to the move for a super income tax, he read the resolution approved by the municipalities' body and then explained the impossibility of increasing taxation on lands. With his Victoria city tax analysis, he substantiated statements that the maintenance of present legislation virtually meant confiscation of the homes of hundreds of working men.

It was absolutely imperative for the government to furnish some assistance for the ensuing year, he declared.

MINISTER SPEAKS

After speaking the convention for the opportunity to hear its members' cases, Hon. John Hart called the attention of the municipalities' body to legislation enacted during the Liberal regimes of 1917 and 1921. He gave a history of the assistance given the municipalities before explaining that the anticipated provincial revenue for the year was under $20,000,000. Sinking fund costs of $12,000,000; education requirements of $3,000,000; care of institutions, estimated at $2,500,000; mothers' pensions of $500,000; and the municipalities' $500,000 share of motor license fee revenues, gave the government little to work on, he noted.

However, every member of the cabinet was in sympathy with the municipalities and would do all possible to help them, he stated.

"If they (the government) do not help you (the municipalities), I think many of you will be sunk," Reeve Crouch commented.

Reeve J. B. Leyland, West Vancouver, and R. W. Mayhew, Oak Bay, thanked the ministers for their courteous hearings.

Hon. A. Wells Gray thanked the delegates for the presentation of their problems.

He said the government would do all possible to help them, he stated.

MUNICIPALITIES NAME LEADERS

Mayor Love, Grand Forks, Union President; Mayor Leeming Vice-president

Mayor Thomas A. Love, Grand Forks, will lead the destinies of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities during the ensuing year and Mayor David Leeming, Victoria, will act as close contact official between the union and the provincial government on occasions when the municipal body desires immediate personal representation.

At the closing session of the municipalities' convention yesterday afternoon, Mayor Love, for five years vice-president of the body, was elected to the presidency, with Mayor Leeming being chosen as first vice-president. The union decided to hold its next convention at Kamloops, delegates voting for that city in preference to Harrison Hot Springs following bids from those cities for the annual gathering.

Reeve Joseph Brown, Surrey, was chosen second vice-president in a ballot against Reeve R. C. McDonald, and Clerk R. R. F. Sewell, Saanich, was elected by acclamation as secretary-treasurer. Both Mayor Love and Mayor Leeming were placed in office without opposition, the Victoria chief magistrate and Mayor W. J. Moffatt, Kelowna, declining to stand against Mayor Love after being nominated.

As solicitors, the union chose the firm of G. E. Martin and Sullivan, New Westminster, continuing the contract with the former member of that firm.

Commissioner A. A. Lane, Mission, was elected representative on the executive for the villages and seven other delegates were named to that body as follows: Alderman George Miller, Vancouver; Reeve R. C. McDonald, Coquitlam; Reeve W. Crouch, Saanich; Clerk R. F. Blandy, Oak Bay; Reeve J. B. Leyland, West Vancouver; Reeve A. J. Pilkington, Vancouver; and Reeve Charles Oliver, Penticton.

Votes of thanks were extended to the retiring president, Reeve Crouch, for services to the City of Victoria, hosts at the convention; the Victoria School Board for the use of its room, and to the press for its support.

The resolutions committee was also thanked for the splendid work during the session.

At the last minute of the convention, a Coquitlam delegate introduced a resolution requesting the parent governments to increase relief grants by 25 per cent.

The matter was referred to the new executive.

SACRIFICES TO HELP PUPILS

Teachers Buy Boots and Shoes in Some Cases; Pay Tuition Fees

The parts played by school teachers of British Columbia in helping depression sufferers has won the gratitude of hundreds of residents, according to an official of the Department of Education.

While there has been no public recognition of the fact, it is known that instructors, both men and women, in various parts of the province, have undergone considerable sacrifice to help the children under their jurisdiction.

"I know of several cases in which teachers have paid out of their own pockets for boots and stockings so that pupils in their classes could come to school with proper footwear," the official said. "The teachers have suffered like others from wage cuts and reduced incomes, but they have demonstrated a spirit which is truly admirable."

At the University of British Columbia, it is reported, there are instances of professors paying the tuition fees of students who desired to continue their studies but were financially unable to do so otherwise.

School teachers of Victoria showed this same spirit two years ago when they voluntarily sacrificed a percentage of their wages to a fund which was spent on creation of employment through work on school grounds.

The company reports a continued favorable mortality experience, death claims in 1933 being 36 per cent of the expectation. Surplus earnings exceeded those of the previous year.

An outstanding feature of the report is the conservative treatment of its assets, which have been valued considerably below the amounts authorized by the Dominion Insurance Department.

The retiring board was re-elected for a further term. It includes William Marchant and A. E. Mallett, who were subsequently chosen president and vice-president, respectively, and C. Ashcroft, L. E. Gower and G. F. Walter. Mr. Hobbs and E. C. Rossiter were re-elected auditors.

William Marchant occupied the chair. Reports and accounts for last year were adopted and showed the society to be in a satisfactory financial position.

FOUL BAY JUNIORS
PLAN BIG DANCE

At a special meeting called Tuesday evening the committee in charge of the Foul Bay Junior Community Association's first annual dance, to be held in the Shrine Auditorium Thursday, February 8, made final plans and arrangements for the affair.

The committee consists of the following members: Florence Siddall, Betty Schwarz, Albert Bevan, Ian Elliott, Gordon Lay, Harold Gardner and Sam Gardner. Novelties, favors, prizes and refreshment arrangements were among the more important things under discussion. A popular six-piece orchestra has already been engaged and the committee has done all in its power to make this, the first annual dance, a big success. The dance is being held under the patronage of Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, and the proceeds go toward a gymnasium fund and to the finishing of Hollywood Park.

condition of the beach was responsible. The picnic grounds, generally known as the Elk Lake Athletic Grounds, at the northwest corner of the lake, where hundreds of picnickers go on a Saturday and Sunday afternoon, and have done for years, suffers from the same nuisance.

The floats and diving rafts, which the City and Saanich Parks and Beaches Committee erected, and where they spend money every year to further the enjoyment of the public, have to be scraped off daily to clean them after the birds have roosted on them at night, and the beach is filthy.

It cost the ratepayers of Victoria and Saanich last year the sum of $70 to provide food for the birds. What would it cost if the number were increased to 1,000 as proposed. Even with the public and private supplies of food the birds even go very hungry and are forced to go across the road into private gardens.

Let Elk Lake be a game preserve for the wild fowl which naturally use it for their nesting and rest there during migration, but do not let it be spoilt for the hundreds of picnic parties who have used it for years. After all, those who do so greatly enjoy the event are only those who are driving past the lake. Would it not be better to have them on the lake at Beacon Hill Park, where those who do not own cars and the tourists who do not bring cars to the island could enjoy them?

Would it not be better to spend the money used for feeding a large flock of unnecessary birds on providing employment so badly needed?

WIND AND WATER

To the Editor:—The term "Real Estate" as commonly used is a very misleading one. It has come to mean land and improvements upon land. One term for two separate and distinct values; values which might be called, antagonistic, or diametrical opposites, and quite inadmissible in logic or ethics. Whether intended to deceive or not the term has that effect and it's a handy camouflage for easy-money artists.

In The Daily Colonist of February 12, 1933, page 5, appeared an account of the purchase in the year 1932, of a great part of the peninsula on which Victoria stands, from the Indians for a few hundred dollars. The enormous increase in the value of that natural resource since that time is unmeasured. It is due to no individual effort but is a product of the Commonwealth of the enjoyment of which by individuals should be paid for into the community chest. The buildings and other improvements being a labor value belong to the individual producer in toto, and there can be no excuse whatever for taking away from him by way of taxation, any part of that value while any part of the revenue from public or natural resource value remains in private hands. Privilege values are public values.

Labor values are private values and should be left to the earner thereof without let or hindrance.

Under primitive conditions there are no privileges. The home is protected by the strong arm club or scalping knife. But from the beginning of the social state there has to be a central authority to transact the social or co-operative business, which the individual unit is unable to do efficiently or at all, and to keep the peace by means of policemen, etc. This is the justification for government and the beginning of civilization.

Now, there can be no monopolies or privileges without the consent and authority of government. No corporation can operate without a government charter. No individual can hold a farm or city lot without a government title or lease. Most privileges consist of monopoly of natural resources—the surface of the earth and the things nature deposited therein and thereon. By inserting properly qualifying conditions in all grants, charters, titles or leases, government can easily put an end to stock-watering and land-booming—which are in effect and principle one and the same thing—and it can provide that a condition to all holdings shall be occupation and use. It can also provide that the economic rent of natural resources of the natural resources involved be paid into the public till and that no imposts shall be levied on the physical or labor value of manufacturing plants or improvements on a farm or home. This would squeeze the water out of the stock and the wind out of the land boom. It would result in high wages to the worker and low prices to the consumer.

AVIATRIX SETTLES DOWN TO DESIGNING

An aviatrix turns from the skyways to fashion designing with this striking result—her chamomile sports blouse sets style—Amelia Earhart takes her hand from the stick of an airplane and turns it to designing clothes for the "tailored girl." And with equal success. The versatile aviatrix makes a white sports blouse of perforated chamomile with long sleeves and small collar with ends which form a flattering tie. The blouse buttons all the way up the front. Miss Earhart is shown above wearing the blouse.

SWING SEEN IN TRADE ROUTES

Ontario Agriculture Department Report Says Canada Sends More to Britain

Toronto, Feb. 1.—One thing Canada had gained by the recent years of depression she has passed through was the reformation of trade routes and the formation of new trade channels, according to the monthly crop report, compiled for the Ontario department of agriculture by S. H. Symons, statistician and economist.

At the start of the depression, Canadian agricultural producers were forced to find new markets at prevailing low prices, owing to prohibitive tariffs being set up against Canadian produce by the United States. The result, the report said, in opening up new trade routes, particularly to British Empire countries, and the re-establishing of former routes.

As a result, exports of farm products to the United Kingdom increased rapidly and nearly made up for the loss suffered through the United States tariffs. Between 1931 and the end of 1933, bacon exports increased from 10,334,900 to 60,508,800 pounds; dried apples from 160,265 to 311,025 pounds; wool from 681,265 to 2,701,232; corn starch from 11 to 250,320 pounds; canned fruits from 2,763,224 to 16,479,584; and cattle from 6,228 to 43,033.

CENTRAL BANK PLAN DOUBTED

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Establishment of a central bank in Canada would result in the closing of half the branches of the existing chartered banks, Hon. P. F. Casgrain declared in the Senate yesterday. He believed also that taking away the right of issuing money from the chartered banks would depress the value of their stock.

CALGARY MAN IS KILLED BY AUTO

Calgary, Feb. 1.—Unconscious for nearly two days, Herbert Duncan, fifty-four, who was knocked down by an automobile, died in a hospital yesterday evening. Ernest D. Carder of Simon's Valley was held to-day on a technical charge of negligent driving pending the holding of an inquest.

As an evidence of this belief Senator Casgrain told of an estate in Montreal containing Bank of Montreal stock which the will ordered could not be sold. A suit was now in progress to break that clause in the will, he said, because of the proposal to alter the status of the bank.

"If the honorable leader of the Senate can tell me one thing a central bank can do that cannot be done as well by our existing banks, then I will take off my hat to him," Senator Casgrain said.

Fair Sex Cagers Register 48 to 14 Victory in League Fixture

Playing a superior game of basketball, the Victoria High School girls defeated the Normal School quintette 48 to 14 yesterday at High School. The High School cagers gained a half-time lead of 22 to 10 and more than tripled their opponents' score by the final whistle.

High School went on a rampage from the start and Jean Wilson and Doreen Beere played havoc under the Normal hoop, taking advantage of every set-up. The Normal girls fought hard but were unable to get through the solid defence of the black and yellows. The half-time score was 22 to 10.

Normal School staged a comeback in the second half with Muriel Thompson tossing in two counters from under the basket. High School applied the pressure and romped through the Normal defence, changing the score with monotonous regularity. Pat Copeland refereed. The teams and individual scores follow:

High School—Jane Trotter, Eleanor Trotter, Evelyn Gaunt, Doreen Beere (19), Jean Wilson (19), Margaret Purdy (10), and Helen Smith.
Normal School—M. Thompson (8), J. McDonald (2), B. Moffat (4), P. McLaughlin, E. Jones, M. Bonner, M. Martin, E. Stevens and C. Graham.

SEEK SEWERS IN SAANICH

Victoria Sanitary and Heating Association Makes Appeal For Installation

In a resolution which failed to see the light of day in the deliberations of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention here, the Victoria Sanitary and Heating Association pressed for the installation of a sewerage system in the inner wards of Saanich.

The resolution, addressed to the serious vein he sang "The Lute Player," by Allister.

Miss Grace Allen, L.B., was accompanist for the entire programme, a heavy task, but one which she performed in her usual sympathetic manner. She shared in the general applause which greeted the singers at the conclusion of the programme. All in all the concert was one of the most pleasing heard in Victoria for a long time, and members of yesterday's audience are now eagerly looking forward to the next programme by the Meistersingers.

In this choral body are F. Irving, I. Jones, D. Stewart, L. Smith and J. Walsh, first tenors; J. Dunn, W. Johns, J. T. Longworth and J. Walton, second tenors; S. Jones, F. Rowley, P. Timp and G. Wilkins, first basses; and L. A. Baker, S. Clarke, J. Mickleburgh and R. Pollock, second basses.

union, follows:

"Whereas in the interest of public health the Victoria Sanitary and Heating Association, after a thorough investigation into the sanitary conditions of the inner portion of the City of Victoria, have deemed it expedient that a sewerage system be installed forthwith.

"And whereas disease is no respecter of persons or boundaries and whereas thousands of tourists in the touring season visit the scenic attractions of this district, who, in the event of an epidemic of disease breaking out as a result of these conditions, would become possible carriers and spreaders of disease to all parts of the province of British Columbia, resulting in incalculable economic loss to the whole province, be it therefore resolved.

"That this convention of British Columbia municipalities recommend to the government the undertaking of the installation of a sewerage system in Saanich as one of its public works programmes."

POCKET WIRELESS FOR BRITISH POLICE

Final tests have been carried out in England by Home Office and Scotland Yard officials with pocket wireless sets on which experts have been experimenting for two years. Each set, which weighs one pound and fits the breast pocket of a policeman's tunic, has a radius of fifty miles. The tests were carried out on the main London-Brighton Road, and at a distance of from three to six miles messages were clearly audible. One of the sets picked up a message stating that a car had been stolen from Hastings and was believed to be traveling along the main Brighton Road towards London.

EARLY DAYS IN ONTARIO

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald Gives Reminiscences at Bruce and Huron Reunion

"The old settlers could teach us many lessons," said Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, speaking before a large audience of the Huron and Bruce Counties Association at the A.O.F. Hall yesterday evening. "They were frugal; we have long since forgotten the art with terrible results, both personally, nationally and internationally. They were no less happy by their frugality. They were also honest and hard-working."

Mr. Justice Macdonald, who is honorary vice-president of the association, showed the spirit of the early days in Ontario by a series of anecdotes and comments, most of them connected with his personal experience.

TREND WESTWARD

Expressing surprise at the large numbers of former inhabitants of the counties to be found in the west and the scarcity in the east, he said that all progress moved west. Culture had originated in Asia Minor, had spread to Greece, western Europe, and later to the American continent. He pointed to the possibility of a further expansion across the Pacific in the future.

It was purely sentimentality which had caused them to gather together at the meeting. "We must not laugh at sentimentality; it is potent, and links us to the soil from which we sprang. Sentimentality is the impulse to the best deeds that man can perform. It is the handmaiden of patriotism, the inspiration to noble actions. Anarchy flies before it."

Referring to two tableaux which had been presented by members of the association before his address, the speaker said that they recalled clearly to him the incidents of his boyhood. The first, which was entitled "Grace Before Meat," was accurate, he said, by the length which it lasted. These graces were said in Gaelic. He recalled one in the course of which a dog had come in, stolen the meat off the stove, and got away before the saying of it was ended.

LONG SERMONS

The sermons in the churches of the early settlements were even longer than the graces in the farm houses. The speaker recalled an occasion on which a visitor had come into church shortly after the beginning and sat in the pew next to him. After the sermon had gone on for two hours the newcomer leaned across, and asked for how long the preacher had been speaking. On being told "Twenty-five years," he arose hastily and departed. "They were grand sermons, fitted for a stern and controversial race, and were in no way second to those of the present day. They were an intellectual treat, in comparison to which the modern sermon seems a rather innocuous affair."

The early days of the settlers were a hard struggle with the land, the speaker said, and everything was hard with them. The sports were epic, with mighty stone throwing contests and wrestling matches on such occasions

Try Royal City Tomatoes

As the Caledonian games at Lucknow, which thousands flocked, and which late at night often turned into bloody battles between the Scots and the Irish.

HARD PUNISHMENT

Punishment was correspondingly severe. The modern ideas of self-expression for the child were no change for the better, and in many cases, especially across the border, had been exploited commercially in schools. The politics were rugged as the times themselves. Personally, the speaker said, his family were staunch Liberals, avid readers of The Globe, which was second only to the Bible. He recalled one man who said "Nae man is a Liberal who wouldn't gang through mud to his neck to a meeting."

"But now the country seems empty," Mr. Macdonald concluded. "Streets that were once crowded with wagons and teams, where construction

ENTERTAINMENT

The members and visitors were greeted by the chairman, Neil Pollock, who also introduced the speaker. In the course of the evening, musical and dramatic entertainment was provided, with a programme including songs by Robert Morrison and D. R. Bremner; living pictures entitled "Grace Before Meat" and "Home, Sweet Home," staged by Mrs. J. W. Hawthorne, Miss Babs Pollock, Miss Evelyn Watson, E. Jones and R. Watson; violin solos by W. W. Bryce and Peter Davidson, and Highland dancing by Miss Marian Peterson, British Columbia gold medalist, accompanied by Pipe Major Don Cameron. At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was proposed by E. B. McNeill, and refreshments were served to the gathering.

The Meistersingers In Musical Triumph

Large Audience Enthusiastic When New Male Choral Body Makes First Public Appearance; Soloists Are Pleased

Victoria may well be proud of its latest choral organization, The Meistersingers, which made its initial bow before a large and enthusiastic audience at the Shrine Auditorium yesterday evening. It is not often that Victorians have an opportunity to hear a concert of this nature. The programme, so informal, and at the same time, so ambitious, was delightful and was extremely well handled under the able guidance of Frederic King.

The singers showed that they had been training regularly and faithfully during the last year. To the highly trained musician there were technical flaws, no doubt, but to the average music lover the programme was a delight from start to finish. The attack was good, the tone in nearly every number was perfectly balanced. The tenors were a little weak in one or two numbers but on the whole they beautifully balanced the fine bass voices in the choir.

There was a fresh spontaneity about the programme. This may have been due to the informal way in which the songs were presented. Only three or four numbers were conducted in the usual choral fashion. The other numbers were sung by the men as they posed informally about the stage, or went through actions to suit their words. Attired in red lounging jackets, with flowing black ties, the men were reminiscent of the singers of Europe, whose name they bear.

It would be no surmise for the able critic to pick out the finest numbers on the programme, but the two that brought forth the loudest and most prolonged applause were excerpts from Verdi's "Trovatore," and gems from "Robin Hood." In the first the choir appeared in the famous "Anvil Chorus," which was really splendidly done. They sang the "Soldiers' Chorus," and chanted the monks' prayers from back-stage, while Thelma Johns and J. Walsh did the solo parts. Geo. Wilkinson took one of the incidental solos, PERFECT BALANCE

Excerpts from "Robin Hood," always one of the most popular of the light operas, were a joy to hear. The "Tinkers' Chorus" was perhaps the most outstanding number. The parts blended beautifully. In the "Legend of the Chimes," Frank Irving displayed a promising, tender voice. Richard Pollock had the incidental solo in the "Hunting Chorus," and Pierre Timp did the solo work in "Brown October Ale." Like an organ, the parts perfectly balanced, and the tone rich and true, was the final number, "Oh Promise Me," which had to be repeated.

Perhaps the most beautiful balance of tone was displayed in the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from "Tannhauser," in which the pleasing voice of Fred Rowley was heard in the solo part. Other operatic numbers, difficult and ambitious, were "O Isis and Osiris" from "The Magic Flute," by Mozart, and the "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust." The voices of The Meistersingers seemed suited to these rousing passages. In quieter mood they sang "The Seagulls" (Protheroe) and "Low, How a Rose Ever Blooming" (Praetorius). In "There Rolls the Deep" (Nicodemus), the singers showed an able way of handling the shading of their tone. "Bedouin Song" (Rogers) also brought out this feature of the singing.

THELMA JOHNS

Thelma Johns seems to improve each time she appears on the concert stage. She had several operatic arias yesterday evening and sang them in professional style. Her first number, one of the most difficult in operatic repertoire, was "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio," from Verdi's La Forza del Destino. Her finest number was in the Miserere from "Trovatore," in which she sang the famous duet with J. Walsh. She also gave "Love, Fly on Rose Pinions" from the same opera, and on the second part of the programme sang "In Autumn," by Franz, which she thought like music by Brahms, and Palmgren's "Autumn."

A NEW SINGER

A newcomer to local musical circles was Pierre Timp, who sang for the first time on a public platform. He is the possessor of a powerful, true baritone, that should go a long way in the local musical field. His voice is a natural one, and with training and practice should be one of the finest baritones in Victoria. He sang Schumann's "Two Grenades," and made the French national anthem, a gem. In a lovely duet from "Forza del Destino" with Llewellyn Jones he sang with feeling and poise that were amazing in one making his first appearance.

Llewellyn Jones, like Thelma Johns, is one of the city's leading singers. His fine tenor, beautifully trained, and of splendid quality was heard in two operatic numbers, one from Puccini's "La Boheme" and the other, the famous "Woman is Fickle" from Verdi's Rigoletto. This latter number he did so well that he was recalled several times and as encore sang "The Vagabond." He was in fine voice for the duet with Mr. Timp.

Percy Mickleburgh showed his love of the humorous with his song "The Company Sergeant-Major." In more BUSINESS has many barometers and some speedometers.

The volume of newspaper advertising, for instance, is one of these speedometers; it shows how fast trade is moving.

Watch the newspaper advertisements. Gradually they are increasing in number as business steps into second speed. Merchants and manufacturers feel a quickening public interest in buying; they are reaching out to catch that interest.

Their advertisements are worth following closely these days because they contain news of unusual importance to every shopper.

Following the news has become a habit in our lives; almost like breathing or eating. Our conversation, our opinions, our actions are based on what we read in newspapers.

Advertising in the newspapers is, for this reason, more than advertising. It is part of the force that is generated by the great dynamo of news—the force by which people act and think.

Newspaper advertising, like the news, is born fresh daily—timed to the minute—sparkling with the energy and action of each day's events.

It reaches virtually everyone who can be reached at all by any advertising, because whatever else people do, they read the newspapers today and will read them again tomorrow.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Minimum charge $2.50.

Births $1.00 per insertion.

Deaths $1.50 first insertion and $1.00 succeeding insertions.

Funeral notices. In Memoriam notices and Card of Thanks. $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute rule; the number of lines is not dependent on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire to have replies addressed to a box at the Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7522 before 9 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

THE SCREEN

POPULAR STAR AT DOMINION

Charles Ruggles Has Leading Role in New Comedy Entitled "Goodbye Love"

Charles Ruggles is now at the Dominion Theatre in "Goodbye Love." The film is a personal triumph for Charles Ruggles. His rare talents as a comedian have never been seen to better advantage than in the thoroughly ludicrous character of Groggs. The story opens as Groggs finds himself confronted by the inescapable problem of alimony. He borrows enough money for a final settlement on his wife from his employer, but only pays his divorced wife an instalment and goes on a vacation to Atlantic City.

He meets Phyllis, a blonde who takes him for all his money and then leaves him flat.

Verree Teasdale as Phyllis makes an attractive and alluring big time vamp. Sidney Blackmer is sincere in a fine performance of Groggs's employer, Mayo Methot deserves bows for a truly fine portrayal, and Phyllis Barry is excellent as the misunderstood secretary who wins out.

Two Pictures At Columbia

Virtue may be its own reward, but the earnings of villainy are more substantial in Hollywood.

Bradley Page, specializes in villainy. He is a Hollywood screen villain, and sine for cash. He does a neat bit of villainous work in "Hold the Press," which stars Tim McCoy, and which is at the Columbia Theatre. Shirley Grey is also in the cast.

Hollywood payrolls show very little difference between the earnings of first class villains and first class heroes, and, if a man can not be a handsome hero in the celluloid city, the next best thing is to be a vile villain. It all adds up about the same when income tax time comes around.

Also being shown is Maurice Chevalier in "The Way to Love."

Fine Cast At The Playhouse

A gang fight scene was being rehearsed in Arthur Somers Roche's "Penthouse," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Cosmopolitan production which opens at the Playhouse Theatre to-day. Guns spat venomous fury. Richly gowned women screamed. A gunman died and Charles Butterworth, the bewildered butler, reacted to the scene with unusual realism.

The cast includes Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy, Phillip Holmes, C. Henry Gordon and Nat Pendleton.

Also being shown is "Bill Boyd in 'Flaming Gold'."

Patrons Named For Symphony

Everything points to a capacity house for the concert to be held Monday at the Royal Victoria Theatre by the Vancouver Symphony Society. The concert will be under the patronage of the Governor-General and the Countess of Beesborough, the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and Mrs. Fordham Johnson, Chief Justice and Mrs. Macdonald, Mayor and Leamling, Commander V. G. Brodeur and Mrs. Brodeur and Major-General Ashton and Mrs. Ashton.

The concert held last November was an outstanding success and the concert for Monday promises to be even more of an event.

COMING TO DOMINION

Eddie Cantor sings three lively new songs in his hit imitable fashion in "Roman Scandals," the comedian's fourth annual screen musical extravaganza for Samuel Goldwyn, which comes Monday to the Dominion Theatre.

The numbers are "Keep Young and Beautiful," "Build a Little Home" and "Tax On Love." The first two were written by Al Dubin and Harry Warner, while the last Warren collaborated with L. Wolfe Gilbert.

"No More Love," the plaintive ballad crooned by Ruth Etting of radio and Ziegfeld Follies fame in the spectacular "Slave Market" sequence of this United Artists release was also written by the Dubin and Warren team.

Cage Referees To Take Floor Tests

Gordon Woodbridge, president of the Vancouver Island Board of Approved Basketball Referees, announced to-day that referees who took the recent examinations, must take their floor tests at Nanaimo on Sunday at noon. Officials of the B.C. Basketball Association will be at the up-land city to handle the tests.

The referees must make their own arrangements for transportation to Nanaimo. Tommy Macdonald and Alan Lehmars are the only two local arbitrators who do not have to take the tests.

HOTEL LOBBY GOSSIP

When he was here last summer, D. O. Roblin of Toronto, who represents Hal's and other famous Scotch products, said: "I will be back here, February 1."

"This morning he sauntered down the gangplank of the Vancouver boat and registered as the first guest of the month at the Empress Hotel."

He is a methodical person and a stickler for punctuality. "I said I would be here, and here I am," he remarked as he scrawled his signature on the registration card and called for his usual room.

"Have some business with the government," he told a reporter after breakfast as he left the hotel to have a conference with W. F. Kennedy, head of the Liquor Control Board.

"There's a fine businessman, he's a great merchant," he commented. "He knows how to buy, when to buy and what to buy."

Scotch whiskies are going to be dearer, because of the increased demand on the North American continent, remarked Mr. Roblin, but he did not think prices in B.C. would be affected. He believed the people of this province were paying more for their favorite beverages now than they should.

Before going on to Europe, where he expects to make an extended stay, Charles L. Finckh of San Francisco, is paying another visit to the city to meet old friends. He is staying at the Empress Hotel while here.

Harry Rosenbaum, president and secretary-treasurer of Motion Picture Limited, Vancouver, left by the night boat after a day's business in the city. He was at the Empress with Mrs. Rosenbaum. It was Mr. Rosenbaum's company that supplied the sound equipment for "The Crimson Paradise," produced by Commonwealth Pictures here.

Thomas H. Wilkinson, secretary of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, Vancouver, and left last night for the mainland after conferring with government officials here relative to timber matters.

WAS TEACHER MANY YEARS

J. W. Thomson, Pioneer Member of Boys' Central Staff, Died Yesterday

J. W. Thomson, pioneer teacher, passed away yesterday evening at St. Joseph's Hospital following a long illness. Born at Island, County Gray, Ontario, Mr. Thomson graduated from Toronto Normal School, and came to this province nearly sixty years ago. He first taught in the Fraser Valley and later came to Victoria to continue his profession in Boys' Central Staff. In 1879 he married Miss Annie Sluggitt, a pioneer Sanich family. Some years later the family moved to Revelstoke. Mr. Thomson opened the first school of this district. In 1892 he took up land at the town site of Thompson's Landing, now known as Beaton, gateway to the Ladang. During his residence in that territory he acted as justice of peace and notary public.

Upon returning to the island in 1907, Mr. Thomson took up his residence at Brentwood, and retired. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Lorne of Brentwood, and Roy of Spokane; three daughters, Mrs. Claude Butler of Kelowna, and Mrs. Mable Evans and Mrs. A. Fitch, both of Victoria; seventeen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Boardholders of the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Ltd. are not satisfied with the city's refusal to pay a seven per cent. guarantee on the amount by which the company fell short of its anticipated $50,000 a year revenue. It was revealed in a letter received at the City Hall today. It is the fourth letter of that nature in the last four years, but in no case no action followed.

Rev. O. L. Jell, vicar of St. Mark's Anglican Church, has received word from Archbishop E. P. Laycock, now in England, that a beautiful altar, of the old English or Sarum design, will be shipped from London, England, in about a week. A new altar was donated to St. Mark's by friends in England some considerable time ago but was destroyed by fire before it left the studio. The one to be shipped was constructed to take its place. It will be placed in the church as a memorial to many parishioners who have departed this life.

STING SHOW IS SUCCESS

Oak Bay Plectral Orchestra Renders Famous Works at Chamber of Commerce

That a group of musical people who play such instruments as the mandolin, mandola, guitar and banjo can derive much pleasure and profit may be seen in the Oak Bay Plectral Orchestra, which yesterday evening gave its third concert in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

Such a concert is not only a valuable asset to the community, but is also a source of pleasure and profit to the players. Since its concert a year ago the orchestra has attained to a much greater height of ensemble playing and in this group there were also many hallmarks of the symphony orchestra. Not only that the programme contained much symphonic music (arranged for these instruments) such as the numbers from Grieg's "Peer Gynt" and the "Nutcracker" Suites (Tchaikovsky) but that the players, under the alert and efficient leadership of their conductor, George J. Dyke, gave thoroughly efficient and analytical performances.

The orchestra itself numbers twenty players, comprising nine mandolins, four guitars, one mandola, one flute, two cellos, one double bass and piano.

The programme, attractive and diverting, opened and closed with two bright and stirring marches, the "Oak Bay" and the "Lieutenant-Governor's," written by the director of the orchestra, Percy Scott, and dedicated to the president, Lieutenant-Governor, the latter receiving tremendous applause, and a repetition, the author rising to acknowledge in return the compliment.

Especially, too, meeting with great favor were Brahms' "Hungarian Dance," No. 6; Czibulka's "Love's Dream" (arranged for these instruments); "Cavalry Overture" (von Suppe); "Ase's Death" (Peer Gynt Suite) by Grieg; the "Danse Russe Tripp" from Tchaikovsky's famous "The Nutcracker" and the "Seville Waltz," in which two were loudly re-demanded and given, and even in the other numbers were such vital matters as life, vitality, and a light and shade were no whit the less in evidence.

BANJO AND GUITAR SECTIONS
In these, the banjo and guitar groups, the results were very good. The first were heard in two groups: (1), "Fountain Waltz" (Armstrong); (2), "Imperial March" and "Norman-March" both by Armstrong; the banjos taking part in these numbers. Mrs. Sylvia Holland, the Weber, again accompanied by Mrs. Webster, were "Sweet Moments" (Waltz) (Meyer), and "Hasta La Vista March" (Scott), and in this, as also in the banjo numbers, the results were very good.

During the month just concluded, only one major undertaking was completed, that being the reconstruction of the demolished Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. plant, valued at $2,500. Minor alterations and constructions completed the roll.

No indication of the year's trend could be taken from the figures, however, since the building season does not as a rule start until March or April. Last year 604 permits were issued during the first twelve months for work worth $240,130.

CONCERT WILL BE MEMORIAL

Children of the Foul Bay district hope to see a big audience at the concert which will be held in the Margaret Jenkins Social Auditorium, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will be devoted to the fund for the erection of a drinking fountain in the Foul Bay district.

At the same time the girls dropped by eight per cent from 762 to 699, and deaths declined nine per cent from 531 to 470.

In Victoria there were fifty-two births, forty deaths and twenty-six marriages.

Males outnumbered females 357 to 342 in births, and 287 to 183 in deaths. Deaths, tuberculosis for thirty-one, and motor accidents for seven, of whom six were men.

Thirty infants under one year of age succumbed.

Private funeral services for the late Richard Lawrence Billings, who passed away at the Jubilee Hospital Wednesday, will be held from the Thomson Funeral Home Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell officiating.

PLANE SERVICE STARTS MONDAY

Victoria and Vancouver will again be linked by fast airplane service, starting on Monday. It was announced this morning at the local office of the Canadian Airways.

There will be one round trip daily between the two cities, the plane leaving Vancouver each morning, arriving here at 9.30 o'clock, and leaving here at 10.15 o'clock, and leaving Esquimalt harbor on the return trip at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, reaching Vancouver at 4.45 o'clock.

The plane will carry mail between Victoria and Vancouver, Postmaster G. H. Gardiner said today. Mail for Vancouver will close at 3.30 o'clock each afternoon. Mail coming from Vancouver on the morning plane will be delivered to Victoria business houses before noon.

The lectures are under the direct supervision of the Victoria Prospectors Association.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

HAROLD W. G. HENDERSON
HAROLD M. BROWN
DR. W. T. BARRETT
HOWARD JOHNSON

Harold W. G. Henderson, local manager of A. E. Ames and Co., to-day celebrates his birthday. Born in Dublin he has been a resident of Victoria for the greater part of his life. He has been in the financial business for many years.

Harold M. Brown yesterday saw the passing of another birthday. He is a native son of Victoria.

Dr. W. T. Barrett yesterday passed another milestone. He was born in Kingston, Ontario, and before coming to Victoria over twenty years ago, had a practice in Dawson, to which town he went during the gold rush.

Howard Johnson, who spends most of his time behind the cashier's grill in the Empress Hotel, has a birthday to-day. He started his hotel career as a page boy when he left school and his smiling personality plus efficiency won him promotion to the cashier's cage after several seasons behind the desk as mail clerk.

WAR AGAINST CAR PROWLING

Police Chief Advises City Motorists to Lock Cars When Parking Them

Chief of Police Thomas Heatley this morning issued an urgent warning to Victoria motorists to take every precaution in locking their cars when parking them on city streets for the evening.

Recently numerous reports of petty thefts from cars have been reported and police are seeking the co-operation of motorists in asking them to lock their vehicles. In many cases the loss is due directly to negligence on the part of drivers who leave goods in their unlocked cars.

The latest report of this nature was turned in by Mrs. S. E. Meisner, 383 Hampshire Road, who stated her car was raised yesterday while parked on Douglas Street. A small quantity of food was taken.

MONTH'S BUILDING VALUED AT $10,629

Building figures for Victoria during the first month of the year show more minor activity in this trade than in 1933. This year thirty-eight permits were issued for the month of January, covering the erection and alteration of structures of a total value of $10,629. But while only thirty-four permits were given out for the corresponding period last year, the amount of work indicated by them was valued at $19,723.

During the month just concluded, only one major undertaking was completed, that being the reconstruction of the demolished Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. plant, valued at $2,500. Minor alterations and constructions completed the roll.

No indication of the year's trend could be taken from the figures, however, since the building season does not as a rule start until March or April. Last year 604 permits were issued during the first twelve months for work worth $240,130.

"Neck Fixation" Absorbs Court

Doctor's Suggestion Theory Explored; Justice Proposes "Pain Thermometer"

The status of Walter Dallimore's "fixation of the neck" continued for the second day the subject of argument before the five Justices of the Court of Appeal, when H. A. Beckwith, counsel for the Metcalfs, agriculturist, this morning resumed the appeal in his case against Katherine Maunsell. He claims damages for personal injuries resulting from the accident when her sedan collided with his Ford truck on the Saanich Highway near the Health Centre, activating a neck condition he had had.

Mr. Justice Robertson, at the conclusion of the Supreme Court trial at which eight Victoria doctors testified, dismissed the Dallimore suit on the ground that it had not been proved that the condition of "neck fixation" had resulted from the collision. Mrs. Maunsell had paid all the costs of the damages to the truck as well as to her own car.

Mr. Beckwith took up the evidence of Dr. H. E. Ridewood, who had admitted in testimony that the "neck fixation" or osteoarthritis condition, might not show up for six months after the jolt.

MAY BE SUGGESTION RESULT
He then took up Dr. Ridewood's evidence about Mr. Dallimore's mental processes developed by auto-suggestion by suggestions from the outside until he believed he had an actual neck fixation.

"Dr. Ridewood's account is purely theoretical and conjectural," Mr. Beckwith went on.

He then read Dr. Ridewood's evidence giving the steps and mental processes by which it was possible for Mr. Dallimore to become a changed man and a despondent man convinced and feeling he had something he did not have.

"But this theory is inapplicable to a plodding old farmer with practical mind like Mr. Dallimore," Mr. Beckwith continued. "To conjure this thing up out of thin air is very fanciful."

Mr. Justice McQuarrie—"The doctor's explanation is pretty reasonable."

Mr. Justice McPhillips—"A farmer in good standing is about the last man you could keep in bed or from his work unless he were incapacitated."

Mr. Justice McQuarrie—"A farmer does more thinking than anyone else, particularly a man in a condition such as this man. The farmers are the thinkers of the country."

PAIN THERMOMETER SUGGESTED
Mr. Beckwith continued his argument, pointing out the Ridewood evidence was important as it involved the conceding by the doctor that there was pain.

Mr. Justice McQuarrie—"The doctor does not concede it; it is the man who concedes the pain. The doctor himself is in entire ignorance as to whether there is pain or not."

Mr. Justice McPhillips—"Some day there may be an invention of some kind of a thermometer which will show a condition of pain and the degree of it. We know that when a man is suffering pain there is an effect upon his system and we also know that in a man turns cold, I don't see why the doctors have not been able to work out some way of telling."

Mr. Beckwith—"If he actually has the pain, all the first part of Dr. Ridewood's opinion goes, the first part of his opinion is worthless as he admits the man has pain."

Mr. Justice McQuarrie—"Oh, you can't beat these doctors."

Frank Higgins, K.C., counsel for Mrs. Maunsell, will reply on the continuing of the case Friday.

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.

The regular weekly meeting of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Young People's Society was held in the lecture room of the church, on Tuesday evening, with the president, Allan Anderson, in the chair. The devotional period was in charge of George M. Warren, who chose for his subject "The Three Crosses."

After a brief business period, the musical committee took charge of the programme. Majorie Dixon, in a charming manner, directed the members with two pianoforte solos: "The Searf Dance," by Chaminade and "Rhapsodie Mignonne," by Koelling.

Vocal solos: "Bells of the Sea," and "Down the Road," from the Largo of the New World Symphony, were well sung by Ernest Anderson, who prior to singing briefly outlined the story of each song. Arnold Trevett, the guest speaker of the evening and gave a brief but interesting outline on the "Past and Present, and its Place in our lives."

After the programme the Glee Club met for a practice. The meeting next week will be in charge of the dramatic group, who will present a play written by a member of the society.

ESQUIMALT UNITED Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the Esquimalt United Y.P.S. was held Wednesday evening, Rev. Hugh Nixon led the group in prayer. The roll call and minutes followed. The young people are arranging their concert for Friday, February 2, at 8 p.m. It is hoped there will be a large turnout. The meeting was adjourned by Miss M. Morgan.

ST. MARY'S JUNIOR W.A.

St. Mary's Junior W.A. recently joined forces with St. Barnabas Coral League to sponsor a concert in the schoolroom of St. Barnabas Church. The girls of the Coral League were seen in a delightful little play, "The Party Frook," while the older girls of the W.A. showed some fine acting in their mission play, "The Conversion of St. Paul."

Other features included: Paul Leander in a recitation; Victor Moore, vocal solo; Jack Moore, violin solo, and Mrs. Ruby Moore, Jack and Victor Moore, in an instrumental trio. One of the features of the evening was the singing by Victor Moore of three sacred songs, the words of which were written by Miss E. Roberts, and the music composed by Mrs. Ruby Moore.

Native Daughter Dies in Sweden

J. Stuart Yates, well-known member of the legal profession, received the sad news yesterday that his eldest daughter, Mrs. McGregor, formerly Miss M. Frances Yates, had passed away on January 4 in Stockholm, Sweden.

Mrs. McGregor was born in Victoria in 1880, being the first white girl to be born in Vancouver Island, which was then a colony. A white boy was born several days before she was, but the boy died in infancy, so that Mrs. McGregor really held the distinction of being the first white child to be born in the colony.

Her father, the late James Yates, was among those who came out on the first emigrant ship to this Coast. Mrs. McGregor went to Sweden when her husband was called there in the position of vice-consul for Great Britain.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Barney Ross Worthy Successor to Great Benny Leonard

Appears Over-confident In Seeking Bout With McLarnin

Difficult to Name Greatest Hockey Goalie of All Time

AFTER a lapse of several years it begins to look like the Jewish race has finally come forth with a worthy successor to Benny Leonard. In his prime one of the greatest lightweight champions of all time, Barney Ross, Chicago, is at last beginning to impress upon fans and critics that he is far better than he was rated at the time he won the title from Tony Cannonieri. His decisive victory over the veteran Billy Petrolle the other night added greatly to his prestige. The brilliant display of boxing, speed, science and courage Ross gave, beating the "Fargo Express" proved that he is a topnotcher. It took courage for Ross, a comparatively light hitter, to stand toe to toe with Petrolle, noted for the power of his punches, but that was what he did.

Ross won the lightweight championship at an early age, and, if he continues to fight at reasonably frequent intervals, he should show much improvement. That puts him in a different position to a fighter who wins the championship after years of campaigning and, perhaps, a little past his prime when he enters the ring to wear the crown. An example of the latter case is to be found right in the lightweight division. Rocky Kansas, herty Buffalo Italian, won the championship when he beat Jimmy Goodrich, also of Buffalo, for the title and as a result he did not last long.

Ross apparently has plenty of self-confidence, perhaps too much for his own good, for he is attempting to secure a bout with Jimmy McLarnin, king of the welterweights. McLarnin carries too much dynamite in his fists to risk a beating from which he might not recover properly in attempting to give away weight to a puncher of McLarnin's ability. Ross has been able to give away weight to McLarnin and stand up to him.

In 1930 another young Jewish fighter, Al Singer, was emboldened by his success in winning the lightweight championship and thought he could whip McLarnin. He found he made a big mistake, for the Canadian boy blasted him into oblivion in the third round. Ross, on the other hand, is a better boxer than Singer, but he does not hit as hard as Singer, and, offensively, would not be as great a threat to McLarnin. On Ross's behalf, the only bright spot in the record is that another former lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell, used speed and cleverness to outpoint McLarnin. Conditions were different, however. McLarnin weakened himself in making the championship weight of the lighter class. Later he met Mandell in an over-weight affair and whipped the Italian easily.

Throughout the years, disputes have ever been numerous regarding the relative merits of major league goalkeepers, and the arguments will go on a long time. Going back thirty years we find that Paddy Moran, colorful guardian for a Quebec team, was one of the first to attract outstanding attention, and, closely pursuing him came Percy LeSueur and the late Riley Hern, noted for his fearlessness as well for his ability. Then followed the great George Veina. Happy Holmes, Hughey Lehman, Billy Nicholson, Chief Jones and Clint Benedict.

There are those who staunchly maintain that Veina was not only the greatest net-guardian of his day, but also the best of all time. This brilliant player performed in 373 consecutive games to a record that is without stood all assaults against it until Murray Murdoch of the New York Rangers, established a new mark this season. There are nine great goalies in the National Hockey League this season, but the critics rate Charlie Gardiner, Chicago Black Hawks, and Roy Worters, New York Americans, as being the most effective. They are sensational goalies, but so are George Hainsworth, Tiny Thompson, Lorne Chabot, Billy Beveridge, Wilf Cude, Dave Kerr and Andy Aitkenhead. Kerr, Cude and Beveridge also have youth in their favor.

FREDDIE MILLER WINS

Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 1.—Freddie Miller, National Bowling Association featherweight champion, easily outpointed Frankie (Kid) Covelli, Brooklyn, in a ten-round non-title bout at the Broadway arena yesterday evening.

Tony Pooley In Two-set Victory Over Harry Webb

Young Kelowna Star Turns Back Victorian 15-5, 17-16 in Opening Round

Good Matches In Women's Singles

With the heaviest entry list in history, the opening rounds of the Vancouver Island badminton championships were played off yesterday evening. Three hundred entries have been received for all events, setting a new mark for the tourney. A large opening-night crowd lined the galleries and were enthusiastic in their applause for the players. Twenty-five matches were run off with thirty-five scheduled to-night. It is the first tournament in Canada to have an international entry list, with players from California, Washington and British Columbia competing for the island titles. Most of yesterday's matches were confined to local players, with only a few of the outsiders in action.

Harry Webb, one of the strongest local men, went out in the first round before the strong play of Tony Pooley, Kelowna, 15-5, 17-16. George Lane, youthful Victoria Club player, accounted for Marsh Gordon, 15-9, 15-9, for a surprise win. Teddy Simmons eliminated Des Bleasdale, newly crowned Victoria Club champion, 15-6, 15-5. Dick Peers, Garrison, won from Don Davis to complete the list in the men's singles. The seeded players in this event are Dick Birch, Vancouver; Leney, Duncan; Tony Pooley, Kelowna; and Ross Hocking, Victoria.

GOOD WOMEN'S MATCHES

There were some good matches in the women's open singles. Florence Oates, Garrison, was hard pressed to win from Miss M. Harris, Willows, 3-11, 11-5, 11-1. Miss Oates settled down after losing the first set and played strongly thereafter. Doreen Swaine, Garrison, defeated Miss E. Saunders, J.B.A.A., in a three-set game to advance to the next round. Seeded players in this event are Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick, Vancouver; Jean Campbell, Victoria; Doreen Swaine, Victoria; and Florence Oates, Victoria.

Four matches were played off in the men's doubles. Pooley and Corfield, third seeded pair, defeated Pickett and Bird, Victoria Club, 15-6, 15-10. Simmons and Webb, winners, defeated the Garrison team of Flett and Dunbar, 15-10, 15-9. Leney and Mutter, Duncan, are seeded first in this event with Peers and Hocking, Victoria, second. Pooley and Corfield and Webb and Simmons are third and fourth, respectively.

VINES GIVEN FINE WELCOME BY HOME TOWN

Professional Tennis Star Showered With Praise on His Return to Pasadena

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 1.—Back home, but no longer "broke" is Ellsworth Vines, by profession a tennis player.

Gone is his fear of being termed a "tennis bum," a fear that haunted him for several years while his mother worked in a department store. Greatly improved is his game, a game that lifted him to the world amateur championship.

Pasadena officially extended him the key to the city, showered praise on his performance as a member of a traveling tennis troupe, and wished him continued success in his new venture. The welcome smacked of the enthusiasm that accompanied his return with the Wimbledon and United States crowns in 1932.

"It's great," he beamed in boyish enthusiasm. "My only regret is that I didn't get into professional tennis sooner."

"What I like about it is that my mind is at rest," he continued. "I can concentrate now on my game and I don't have to worry about finances. I am playing 100 per cent better than I was last summer."

LONDON TECS BEAT WINDSOR

Strengthen Position in International Hockey League By 4 to 0 Victory

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 1.—London Tecumsehs yesterday evening defeated Windsor Bull Dogs 4 to 0 in an International Hockey League match to place themselves in a threatening position for fourth place in the standing, only one point behind the Windsorites.

It was the second shut-out for the Londoners in the last two games with Windsor. The third scoreless finish for Bull Dogs in as many starts.

Tecumsehs showed themselves superior both defensively and offensively. Here Stuart, London netman, was invulnerable behind a hard-checking defence and forward lines whose back-checking was persistent and effective. Greig, Gillie, Pusie and Pooley were the scorers. Pusie also got an assist.

OTTAWA SENATORS Let Danny Cox Go

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Danny Cox, centre player, was given his unconditional release from Ottawa Senators of the National Hockey League yesterday. Cox came to Ottawa in 1929 in a deal that sent Frank Nighbor to Toronto Maple Leafs. He was a former member of the Port Arthur All Cup team of 1924-25.

BODY BOWLING RAISED AGAIN

Australians to Submit Antidoping Ruling to Conference in London

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 1.—The Australian Board of Cricket Control to-day decided to submit their anti-doping ruling to an imperial cricket conference that will be convened in England during the forthcoming tour of the Australians.

Australia, which objected furiously to the leg-theory style of bowling, as the M.C.C. calls it, employed on the last English tour of Australia, has so far been unable to get a definite ban on this style of attack. The most the M.C.C. will do is make it plain that any bowling which is obviously a direct attack on the batsman is an offence against the spirit of the game, thus leaving it up to respective captains as to whether it shall be employed.

The board decided to-day the players' wives would not be allowed to accompany the test team and furthermore issued a ban against the players' League game played under floodlight yesterday evening.

O.C. RUGBY
London, Feb. 1.—London Nightfield defeated Wigan 30 to 12 in a Rugby League game played under floodlight yesterday evening.

Edmonton Eskimos Take Second Berth

Defeat Portland 4 to 1 on Sloppy Ice to Gain Ground in Northwest League

Edmonton, Feb. 1.—Edmonton Eskimos to-day stand firmly planted in second place in the Northwestern Professional Hockey League, just three points behind the league-leading Calgary Tigers, as the result of the 4 to 1 beating they handed the tail-end Portland Buckaroos here yesterday evening. It was the second straight loss for the visitors who are now on their second journey around the Alberta end of the league.

Art Gagne, little Esk wingman, added to his scoring laurels when he took a pass from Ernie Kenny for a goal and assisted Ty Arthur and Louis Holmes on another two tallies. Holmes scored Edmonton's other counter unassisted.

Hammering got Portland's lone marker when he opened the scoring in the first period on a pass from Evans.

Warm weather that has lasted for the last ten days played havoc with the ice in the arena. Pools of water dotted the rink, slowing up play considerably.

Teams follow:
Portland—Rheume, goal; Gray and Macfarlane, defence; Evans, centre; Gagne and Arthur, wings; Scott, Johnson, Moher and Smith, subs.

SUMMARY
First period—1, Portland, Hemmerling (Evans), 2-0. Penalties: Townsend.
Second period—2, Edmonton, Arthur (Gagne), 4-3. Penalties: Gagne (Kenny), 14-45. Penalties: Townsend, Gagne, Metcalfe.
Third period—4, Edmonton, Holmes, 11-40. Penalties: Holmes (Gagne), 16-30. Penalties: None.

Proposed Bout Of McLarnin And Ross Has New York Agog

Gotham Fight Experts and Fans Hail Fight as "Natural"; Seems Assured

$250,000 GATE IS PREDICTED

By George Maguire
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, Feb. 1.—Storm clouds are gathering ominously in the hitherto rosy trail followed by Barney Ross, Chicago.

The world lightweight boxing champion has dived headlong into negotiations for a bout with James Archie McLarnin, welterweight titleholder from Vancouver.

The bout seems assured. It will likely be held under the auspices of a milk fund charity here on or around May 23, with Jimmy's title at stake.

Action of Ross in clamoring for a bout with McLarnin immediately after whipping Billy Petrolle here a week ago, and Manager Pop Foster's speed in indicating James will welcome the scrap, have lifted fans to a new high mark since the present era of fighting depression set in.

New York boxing experts are unanimous in agreeing the bout is a "natural."

ROSS SUPPORTED

Ross was praised to the high heavens after beating Petrolle, and when he jumped into the lead with a challenge to McLarnin the writers were with him. McLarnin has been beaten only once in his colorful career by a man who gave him weight.

But—Irish Jimmy vs. Jewish Barney "wow," the experts chorused, and immediately proclaimed the fight would draw a gate of close to $250,000.

One side of the matter the experts have not yet recalled. It is the fact that Jimmy has been beaten only once in his colorful career by a man who gave him weight.

Ross will likely be at a disadvantage of ten pounds, for so eager was he to meet McLarnin he asked for no weight restrictions on Jimmy. The latter therefore, the bout being slated as "for the world welterweight crown," will be permitted to weigh in as heavy as 145 pounds. Ross's fighting weight is around 138.

It was only last May 28 that the Vancouver better polished off Young Corbett in one round to take the welterweight crown.

He started fighting as a youngster in his early teens. His seventy bouts have been carefully spaced, and he has won by three by clear-cut margins. He is noted as a clean liver, who loves the outdoors, and has the happy faculty of quickly getting into shape after quite lengthy layoffs.

BABE RUTH IS AGAIN IN BED

New York, Feb. 1.—Babe Ruth had a slight setback in his recovery from an attack of grippe yesterday when the doctor closed him back to bed.

"The Babe's fever has disappeared," the doctor said, "but he's so fatigued that I thought it would be best if he rests in bed for five or six more days."

FUND NEEDED TO CARE FOR ICE PLAYERS

Montreal Sports Writer Advocates Collection For Disabled and Indigent

Montreal, Feb. 1.—A fund to be administered for the benefit of hockey players who as a result of age or accident are unable to continue and who are without money, was advocated in The Montreal Herald yesterday by E. W. Ferguson, sports editor.

Fortunately, Ferguson said in his column, Irvin "Ace" Bailey, out of hockey as a result of injuries, is a prosperous business man. Furthermore, hockey players of to-day were more saving than in the past.

"Nevertheless there is a distinct need in hockey, as in baseball, for a fund which would look after disabled and indigent players who have outlived their athletic usefulness and who have fallen on evil days physically or financially," he said.

Organized hockey is big enough to contribute a very substantial basis for such a fund. There are at least 500 players engaged in the myriad professional leagues that operate from coast to coast. A small collection, say $1 weekly from each of these players during the active season, would run annually to about $10,000.

MANY ENTRIES FOR DOG DERBY

Annual Quebec Event This Month Draws Leading Mushers

Quebec, Feb. 1.—Entrants for this year's international dog derby to be staged here February 23, 24 and 25 are coming in rapidly, according to heads of the Provincial Dog Derby Club, sponsors of the annual classic. Already mushers from the western provinces—Ontario, Quebec and the United States—have registered their dog teams with organizing officials.

Emile St. Godard, The Pas, Man., driver who carried off the honors in the derby several times, has inscribed his name on the lists again this year. He is in training, his training his huskies for the race there on February 10, following which he will come to Quebec to fit himself for the 120-mile trek, to be covered in three laps of forty miles each from the city limits to Stomach near the Laurentides National Park and back.

Other entrants this year include Leonard Seppala, the Alaskan musher, an annual contender and one-time winner of the event.

Jim Londos Wins Over Joe Savoldi

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Jim Londos, Greece, squared accounts with Joe Savoldi yesterday evening by throwing the former Notre Dame football star in 21.40 in a return wrestling match between a record crowd of 20,000 spectators at the Chicago Stadium.

MAX BAER IS NOT WORRIED

Has No Heartaches Because Max Schmeling Intends to Return to Germany

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 1.—Max Schmeling can go back to Germany without fighting Max Baer and the latter Max won't care a particle. "Why should I?" Baer said. "I can make more money and make it easier with my other contracts," and besides, Baer says he can see no particular point in another match with the German Max anyway.

Stopping here between trains en route from Miami to California, Baer was asked: "Think your stage and night club work will hurt you as a fighter?"

"Certainly it will," he shot back, "if I stay as it too long."
One thing is certain to Baer and his manager, Anni Hoffman, when Baer fights again—and since Schmeling has decided against his match there is no fight even remotely visible—it will be for Jack Dempsey.

"They are writing the script for a picture for me with Max West," Baer said, and he let it drop that he intends to be a "co-star" in the strictest sense.

Colonist, Dealats And Lake Hill Win Basketball Honors

Capture Divisional Championships of Victoria and District League

REGENTS HAND DEALATS DEFEAT

It was champions' night at the High School gym yesterday evening when titleholders in three divisions of the Victoria and District Basketball League were named. Lake Hill Intermediate A girls' quintette defeated Cardinals, 18 to 14, in a close-checking fixture, which settled the championship, while The Colonist men's senior B hoopers came through with a 32 to 23 victory over Normal School to clinch their divisional honors. Dealats were named champions of the intermediate boys' section by virtue of their 69 to 63 two-game total verdict over the Regents. The latter team won yesterday evening's fixture 36 to 33, but the nine-point lead secured in the first game carried the Dealats to the championship.

COLONIST WIN

Fighting all of the way, Normal School cagers gave the Colonist a tough battle before admitting defeat. Play in the initial half was bitterly contested, with the students scoring basket for basket with their opponents. At one stage Normal School went to the front, but the newbies came back and wiped out their opponents' lead. Half time found the Colonist leading 18 to 13.

Second-half play opened fast, with the students holding their own with the Colonist. However, in the latter stages, the newbies went off a scoring bee and emerged from the fray with a nine-point margin.

Successfully holding off a belated rally on the part of the Cardinals, Lake Hill fair sex cagers checked in with a victory. The teams battled on even terms in the first quarter, the score reading 5 to 5. Lois Macmurchie's two field goals gave the winners a lead as the second-quarter play ended.

Proving capable of dropping home the odd basket to offset any score by their opponents, Lake Hill were able to stay out in front until the finish, despite a determined rally on the part of the Cardinals.

REGENTS DEFEAT DEALATS

Battling with grim determination from the first whistle, Regents fought like Trojans to overcome their nine-point deficit and annex the intermediate title in their final fixture with

JACK LOVELOCK IS RECOVERED

Holder of Record Mile Improves From Operation; May Visit U.S. in Summer

New York, Feb. 1.—Possibility that Jack Lovelock, the lean-limbed New Zealander of Oxford University who holds the world record mile, will race in the United States this summer, had track circles agog to-day. They spoke of him competing in the United States outdoor championships in an attempt to better the 4:07 6-10 mile he reeled off at Princeton University last year.

Word that the smiling Briton had completely recovered from the leg injury that threatened his athletic career came yesterday from Eddie Mayo, former U.S. junior cross-country titlist, who is fresh back from England. Lovelock, he said, was seriously considering a summer invasion on this side.

"Jack will be as good as ever," said Mayo, "or so the doctors say. In fact, I told him that over in America some people thought Glenn Cunningham or somebody would do a four-minute mile, maybe 3:58. Lovelock smiled and remarked, 'If Cunningham or anybody does a 3:58 mile, I think I can'."

HOCKEY SERIES IS CRITICIZED

New York, Feb. 1.—Commenting in The New York World-Telegram on the hockey situation in general and the National League playoffs in particular, James Burchard had this to say about the battle for the Stanley Cup:

"With the finale of the regular hockey league season little more than six weeks removed, critics of the title playoff system already are tuning in preparatory to voicing their annual squeaks."

"We have only one suggestion to offer concerning playoff reform. That is no team shall be eligible for playoff competition unless it has won more games than it has lost."

"Hockey is one major league sport that permits a loser to compete in a world championship series. Why? What right have also-rans, especially in a professional rivalry, to participate in a post-season elimination after they have failed during the regular campaign?"

"Five teams would have been eliminated from the playoffs automatically in recent years had it been necessary to win a majority of games."

the Dealats, but their efforts were unsuccessful. They finished on the right end of a 36 to 33 score in yesterday evening's fixture, but the nine-point lead secured in the first game carried their opponents to victory.

Tommy Macdonald refereed. The teams and individual scores follow:

CRAIG WOOD SETS RECORD

Shatters Course Mark With 67 to Lead Field in Agua Caliente Golf

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Feb. 1.—Craig Wood, from Deal, N.J., shattered the course record to lead the field in the first eighteen holes of the fifth Agua Caliente open golf championship yesterday by scoring a sparkling 67.

The big fellow had to shoot record-breaking golf to lead, for wee Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., Scot, was on his heels with 68 and Paul Runyan, defending champion, and W.H. (Wiffr) Cox, the run-up king from Brooklyn, contributed 69's.

Ralph Gudahl, big Texan and now a Los Angeles professional, was consistent with 35 each way for a sub par 70.

Leo does not live here any more, but Diegel, former Agua Caliente professional, has not forgotten how to play his old course in pairs. Tied at 71 with Diegel were George Von Elm, Los Angeles; Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill.; Stanley Kertes, Los Angeles; Mark Fry, San Francisco, and Will O. Hunter, Los Angeles.

BRILLIANT PUTTING

Dr. Cliff Baker, Portland, led the amateur brigade with a good 72, completed through some of the most sensational putting of the day. The Oregonian had trouble in reaching some of the greens, but once home he knew what to do.

Macdonald Smith, the ancient Scot, was back with 73 strokes charged against him, but the experts inclined to sell him short were reminded he started the Los Angeles open with the same score and then won the title for the fourth time. Other good players in the 73 bracket were Al. Eptonos, Harry Cooper and Johnny Revolta.

Oton Dutra, former P.G.A. champion, hit the ball 74 times and Denny Shute went up 75 strokes.

The firing will continue for three additional days, with eighteen holes each day. The winner Saturday will receive $1,500 of the $7,500 prize money.

Basketball Player Fined For Assault

Toronto, Feb. 1.—Dr. A. B. Babcock, president of the Toronto Church Basketball Association, in police court yesterday, charged Lever "Dusty" Rhodes, one-time player, with assault. Rhodes pleaded not guilty.

"Dr. Babcock called me 'rotten' and put his hands on my shoulder. I didn't strike him. I just slapped him."

"Keep away from basketball," ordered the court. "Ten dollars or five days."

RANGERS WILL MEET TORONTO

Leafs Without Kilrea and Boll For N.H.L. Game To-night With World Champs

If New York Rangers are to show Toronto Leafs they are as good as a hockey team to-day as they were in the Stanley Cup playoff last spring to-night's their right to do the job.

The world champions meet the slow-up Leafs in Madison Square Garden when the National Hockey League champs are without Hec Kilrea, one of their star wings, and the valuable Buzz Boll, both out of the game with injuries.

It is their last meeting, at least in the league schedule, in New York. Two previous games resulted in ties. Rangers caught the Leafs at their weakest this season and, even in Toronto, are conceded a grand chance to join the select few who have beaten the Torontonians this season.

A win for the New Yorkers is necessary if they are to be sure of staying in first place in the United States division. Chicago, with whom they are tied, meet Canadians in Montreal and expect to repeat their 2 to 1 win of last Thursday.

Canadians will be fighting to hold second place in the Canadian division as Montreal Maroons, only a point behind them, take on Ottawas in the evening.

Detroit Red Wings, trailing Chicago and Rangers by only a point, expect to overtake the leaders if they failer. Jack Adams' team play Boston Bruins in Detroit.

Garrison Continues Winning Streak In Mid-week Football

Defeats James Bay Liberals 8 to 1; Spencers and Bays Other Winners

Banging home seven goals in the second half to register an 8 to 1 victory over James Bay Liberals yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Park, Garrison's smooth-working soccer eleven continued their march to the Wednesday Football League championship. It marked their fourth straight victory in the Pender Cup series, and their thirteenth consecutive win in league competition. By eking out a 1 to 0 victory over the Navy at Beacon Hill, Spencers stayed within two points of the leaders in the cup race. Hudson's Bay defeated the Macabees by a 1 to 0 score at Heywood Avenue to gain undisputed occupation of the third slot in the title race.

Bobby Brown's goal twenty minutes after the start gave Spencers their goal victory over the Navy at lower Beacon Hill. The teams put on a hard-fought match and although the Navy pressed strongly in the second half, they were unable to get the tying goal. They did everything but put the ball in the net.

Kicking down the hill in the opening half, Spencers had a slight margin in the first fifteen minutes, but the Navy broke through in the second half, but they were cleared without any damage. The Navy broke away several times but their rushes failed to get far.

WINNING GOAL

Spencers took the lead when Brown picked the corner following a free kick taken on the left wing by McKinnon. Caldwell, Navy goalie, had no chance. The Navy pressed and came close to scoring when McKinnon's shot from the right wing was deflected by Caldwell. Spencers only to have the goal disallowed through his having carried the ball into the net with his hands.

With the advantage of the slope in the second half, the Navy worked hard in an effort to get on even terms, but their forwards had an off day. Spencers looked dangerous several times, but were unable to break through. Just before the final whistle, "Tug" Wilson, Spencers' centre forward, was hurt in a scramble around the Navy goal. He soon revived and resumed his position.

The teams follow:
Spencers—McMillan, Munro, Cann, L. Bradley, Blisset, D. Bradley, Brown, Clarke, Wilson, Luskton and McKinnon.
Navy—Caldwell, Miles, Dovy, Hall, McDonald, Gleave, Sweet, Marr, Roberts, Bannalack and Walker.

At Heywood Avenue, the Hudson's Bay defeated the Macabees 1 to 0. "Tubby" Stevens, husky centre forward, netting the only marker of the game late in the first half.

Play in the initial half was of a five-and-take variety, with little to choose between the clubs. Many good chances of breaking into the scoring column were spilt by erratic shooting on the part of opposing forwards.

Thirty-five minutes from the start, "Tubby" Stevens scored on a lone rush when he picked the corner of the net with a low shot. Macabees tried hard to equalize before halftime but their attempts failed.

Opening on the offensive in the second half, Bays came close to increasing their lead, but smart goalkeeping by Wilmhurst, elongated net minder for the clubmen, robbed them of scoring.

Macabees' forwards staged a number of dangerous offensive plays during this half, but lack of finish saw their earlier work wasted.

Late in this half, Stevens of the Hudson's Bay, was ordered from the field by referee Woodley after a 1 to 1 changing blows with Wilmhurst of the Macabees. Despite the one-man handicap, the departmental store eleven were capable of holding their own-goal lead.

A foul called on the Macabees' goalie, late in this half, resulted in Moor scoring, but the tally was disallowed as the player scored direct from the shot.

Woodley refereed.
Hudson's Bay—Baxter, O'Connell, Wyatt, Oakman, Moir, Menzies, Fish, Scott, Stevens, Doherty and Collier.
Macabees—Wilmhurst, Woodley, Speller, W. Graves, T. Graves, Hill, Woolcock, Richards, E. Roberts, Fieldhouse and Newell.

Held to a 1 to 1 score in the first half by the James Bay Liberals, Garrison opened up in the final canto and ran in seven goals for an 8 to 1 victory. Play in the opening session was fairly close, and for a while it looked as if the Tommies were in for a tough battle. Miller, flashy centre forward, opened the scoring when he beat Bourne with a hot shot at long range, twenty-five minutes after the start of play. James Bay Liberals equalized two minutes later when McBride of the James Bay Liberals, play for the better part, was at one end of the field.

Starting to hit their stride, Garrison took the lead five minutes after the second canto got under way, when Blachard netted the ball. From then on the Tommies kept up their offensive play, and except for occasional rushes by the James Bay Liberals, play for the better part was at one end of the field.

Jimmie Worawick, clever forward, made it 8 to 1, and then Kerr registered a pair of markers. Two more by

Byrd Ship Battles Ice In Antarctic

Bear of Oakland Reaches Little America With Supplies From Dunedin; Crews Work Furiously

Bay of Whales, Antarctica, Feb. 1 (via Mackay Radio).—Crumbling masses of ice that wrecked plans to unload winter stores endangered the helpless flagship of the second Byrd Antarctic Expedition late yesterday as she vainly sought a safe berth.

On all sides the craft was menaced by huge floes that choked edges of the Bay of Whales and twice drove her away from a mooring place.

Forty-four men charged with transporting supplies from a temporary camp a few miles inland to the base at Little America continued their battle, meanwhile, against time and ice hazards to remove the stores to safety.

In the midst of these dangers and delays, some measure of cheer was given by the arrival of the Bear of Oakland, the supply ship from Dunedin, N.Z., from where she set out with essential supplies two weeks ago.

Desperate efforts were put forth by members aboard the flagship after she came alongside the ice Tuesday, following a sixty-one-hour battle with the ice. The weary crew worked frantically to finish the job of discharging the rest of the stores, but the craft could keep its anchorage only five hours.

Wide cracks opened to the south of her, and great masses of ice drifted upon her. She cast off and moved a half a mile westward to a fresh berth late Tuesday.

But at 4 o'clock yesterday morning she was driven off again, and for several minutes it was uncertain whether she could escape the perilous undamaged. Dog teams and tractors, meanwhile, were hurried from Pressure Camp, two miles away, to pick up the discharged cargo and move it beyond the widening cracks in the ice.

From the bridge Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Commander Jerssen watched the unloading, the slow crumbling of the bay ice, and the encircling movement of the masses of loose ice floating in the bay.

Between the ship and the main relay depot at Pressure Camp, where a few days ago the bulk of stores for the winter party was cached, ran numerous cracks.

When the flagship first came alongside the ice, those cracks were scarcely visible; yesterday morning they were six inches wide between the ship and the southernmost crack, just a half mile or so from the tent colony at Pressure Camp, the flooring of the bay was heaving up on a long rolling submarine swell.

The decision to move early today was delayed as long as possible, while floating masses were about to close in on the ship. It was only with extreme difficulty and danger that the craft could be brought to comparatively open water.

Windjammer To Voyage World

Famous Sailing Ship, Star of Alaska, Will Sail From Los Angeles Harbor Sunday

Canadian Press
San Francisco, Feb. 1.—Most of the once-proud windjammers of Pacific sailing days are now dismantled, used as barges or floating fish-reduction plants, or else rotting unused, but the Star of Alaska has come to a different fate—perhaps less ignominious.

The old vessel, once the joy of the Alaska packers' salmon fleet, has been turned into a traveling aquarium, a "floating sideshow," carrying glass tanks full of the ocean's strangest freaks to be displayed to the curious at a dime a look.

She will sail from here Sunday, bound for Los Angeles and then on around the world.

There is little doubt that work will soon be resumed on the super-Cunard No. 354, which will be the largest and fastest steamship in the world, in the opinion of G. M. Warren, of the Liverpool offices of the Cunard Steamship Company, who was a visitor to Victoria for a few hours yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Warren came here from Vancouver and left yesterday afternoon by the St. Princess Alice for Seattle, from where he will proceed to San Francisco to call by the Japanese motorship Asama-February 3 for the Orient. During his brief visit here he visited the Canadian National office.

Mr. Warren said he last saw the huge uncompleted liner in November, when the hull was about three-fourths finished. Work on the liner stopped on December 10, 1931. Mr. Warren said, but it is popular opinion in the British Isles that the job will shortly be resumed and that about 1937 the huge liner will be in regular service across the Atlantic.

Before he returns to England early in the summer, Mr. Warren will have completed a trip around the world. He will visit leading ports in the Orient and will then go to Australia and New Zealand before returning, via Singapore and India, to England.

She has ridden the high seas, and bucked many storms and tempests, yet it was the fate of the sturdy Dutch freighter Biron to go down in the Panama Canal. The vessel first to sink in the canal, is pictured listing in Gatun Lake just before she toppled over and sank completely from view.

Sea Holidays Are Arranged

Combining services in an effort to offer a two-week sea holiday to the general public, the Canadian Pacific Steamship and the Canadian Australasian Line, have completed arrangements for this attractive limited vacation between Victoria and Honolulu and return.

Two sailings have been set aside for this offering in the good "weather" months of May and June, the first departure to be on the Empress of Japan May 2 from Victoria, and again on June 2 by the Empress of Canada. The Aorangi will make the return trip from Honolulu May 11, and the Niagara the second trip leaving the Hawaiian port June 8.

Offering this bracing two-weeks sea trip at a minimum of cost, approximately a 30 per cent reduction in the normal fare, is a direct benefit to the office worker. This reduced fare is applicable only to the above sailings, and does not afford any stopover privileges other than the two daylight days and a night stay. The liners are scheduled to arrive at Honolulu at 11 a.m. and to depart there the following afternoon at 4 o'clock affording ample opportunity for a tropical evening on Waikiki Beach.

Cruise Liner Bound India

Suez, Feb. 1.—World tourists from Canada, the United States and England sailed from here yesterday evening by the white Canadian liner Empress of Britain, after spending more than a week in Palestine and Egypt. Her next port of call will be Bombay, where she is scheduled to arrive next Wednesday.

Passengers left the Empress of Britain at Haifa January 24 and went inland through Palestine, visiting Mount Carmel, Jerusalem, Bethlehem and the Mount of Olives. Then they took a special train for Port Said and Cairo, visiting the Sphinx and the Pyramids, taking a trip on the River Nile.

There is little doubt that work will soon be resumed on the super-Cunard No. 354, which will be the largest and fastest steamship in the world, in the opinion of G. M. Rotarians Heard E. and N. Master Mechanic on Latest in Train Designs. Asks What Is Going to Happen to Present Equipment

"Streamlining, and where do we go from here?" formed the subject of an interesting and educational address given to members of the Rotary Club at luncheon to-day at the Empress Hotel by A. Sturrock, master mechanic of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

Streamlining was the topic of the day, said Mr. Sturrock. It was being talked about everywhere. Even women's hats have gone streamlined. "Yesterday it was telephonic; to-day it is streamline," said the speaker.

Mr. Sturrock referred to the competition between railroads in Canada and the United States.

"In my opinion," he said, "what has let the railroads into this unbridled competition is the powerful propaganda resulting in policies which the railroads had to accept to save the traffic. This propaganda is at the present time working into the public in respect to streamlined and other forms of transportation. In this manner educating the public that the forms of transportation we now have are obsolete, and new forms are required."

MUCH EQUIPMENT
"In order to advise you," he continued, "just what this means as far as passenger equipment is concerned, we have on the North American continent approximately 60,000 passenger cars and 15,000 Pullmans. Looking at this, we have a business point of view, what will the railroads do with this, even allowing for the new, much over-advertised streamlined trains, without any tests but to follow the experience of others and what has been accomplished in order to determine what is safe, practical, fast and economical."

NOTHING NEW
"Streamlining is really nothing new," Mr. Sturrock explained.

"Nature discovered centuries ago," Mr. Sturrock said, "that it is easier to part the air with a correctly designed bullet than it is with many projections, or atrike it with a square front. Most fish of the sea are streamlined to cut down the resistance of the water through which they pass. A drop of water, in falling, takes a perfect streamline form. Wind tunnel tests taught the designers of airplanes the secrets of the birds."

"At last the automobile and the streamlined coach are beginning to look right," Mr. Sturrock stated. "Streamlining is important, but we do not know how to do present designs. We have heard rumors that all is not just quite right—this will no doubt all be corrected in time."

SHIP CARRIED MONKEY CARGO

Ss. City of Birmingham Had Exciting Voyage From Rangoon to Boston

Saint John, Feb. 1.—Plenty of monkey business existed aboard the steamer City of Birmingham before delivery of a chattering consignment from Rangoon to the Boston zoo. A barrel of monkeys may provide fun on certain occasions, but two cages of them were more than enough for the Birmingham's crew, who told of their troubles when the steamer arrived here.

"If they had any harder job corraling them in their native haunts than we did at sea, they must have been months on the job," the quartermaster declared.

FIVE DIED
When three days out of the far-eastern port five of the monkeys died, so Captain E. Wilson decided to free the remaining eight from close confinement. These the "fun" began.

Men turning in from watch chased the monkeys from bunks, the cook chased them from the galley after they had stolen many delicacies, the engineer chased them from his tool box, the mate chased them from the chart room, and the vicious circle continued.

Some of the little animals hid in crannies and a few sought the mast-head and crow's nest, evading a nimble seaman's grasp. Then the crew laid a starvation trap. Food was withheld from the deck for one day, and the following day it was placed in a cabin with opened port holes. When the hungry monkeys rushed inside, seamen closed the ports.

Halifax Pier Is Restored

Halifax, Feb. 1.—Repairs on Pier Two, gutted less than three months ago by the most disastrous waterfront fire since this port has ever seen, have been completed at a cost of $375,000. The new pier has every facility for storing freight and perishable goods, in addition to a modern sprinkler system. Nationally known engineers are confident it cannot be destroyed by fire again.

Pier Two is no longer needed as an ocean terminal for passenger trade because of facilities provided at Halifax's new terminal, the Queen's Quay, which is a storage pier to meet requirements of increasing traffic, including products of Canadian mills and canneries, shipped by water from the central provinces.
